Two Lowell and Four New Bedford Men Face Serious Charge

Complaint Alleges Breaking and Entering and Larceny of Liquor

Valued at About $4000 From Home of Lowell Man—Hearing Later

James Manonsen and James Andromedas of Lowell, William Harold, Moses Goldstein, Andrew Wilson and Gabriel Gotellio of New Bedford were arraigned before Judge Enright in the local court this morning, charged with breaking and entering the home of Joseph Cayouette, Victoria street, last Friday night and the larceny therefrom of liquor valued at $3200. They were granted a continuance until Jan. 19. All but Manonsen were represented by counsel.

Harold and Goldstein were bailed out last night by New Bedford sureties in the sum of $5000 each. In the case of all other defendants this morning, the government acceded to the request of counsel for the defendants and reduced their bail to $4000 each. Property holders from New Bedford were in this city last night to bail out some of the defendants but because their claims could not be justified at that time their bonds were not accepted.

Judge Enright said this morning, however, that real estate in New Bedford would be accepted as bail surety provided an affidavit was filed in the clerk's office.

According to the police, two more arrests are yet to be made, one of a Lowell man and another of a New Bedford man, both of whom are said to have been ringleaders in the case. Lieut. Petrie, who is in charge of the case here, said this morning that another arrest would be made soon provided present plans worked out all right.

Word of the larceny of the liquor reached the police first on Monday morning when Cayouette reported the facts to Lieut. Petrie. James Manonsen of Lowell was the first man arrested. He was taken at the depot by Officer Dooley.

Lieut. Petrie secured statements from Manonson that implicated four New Bedford men and also Andromedas of this city. He then left for New Bedford late Tuesday afternoon with warrants and arrested two that same night and one the following morning.

The arrest of Andromedas was expected to be made in New Bedford, but the latter had meantime returned to this city. The Lowell officer then sent back word and Andromedas was taken here late Tuesday night.

Andromedas was arraigned Wednesday morning, but continued until today under $5000 bonds when he was represented by counsel. When queried by the court as to the disposition of the liquor, Lieut. Petrie said that it had not been recovered and that he believed it had been entirely disposed of in New Bedford.

On the ground that Cayouette claims that the liquor taken from his place was stored there prior to the time when prohibition became effective and can offer proof to that effect, it is understood that no complaint can be made against him for violation of any of the liquor laws.

According to the police, Goldstein is a former liquor dealer of New Bedford and now proprietor of a soft drink emporium in that city.

COUNCIL ORDERS CASH TRANSFER

Makes $103,278.54 Available for Immediate Payment of City's Creditors

Lynn Mayor Sends Letter Asking for Help in Tax-Change Crusade

The municipal council at a meeting today did a double shuffle with the financial accounts of the city and made available $103,278.54 to various creditors. It also received and referred to the city solicitor and board of assessors a letter received from Mayor Walter H. Creamer of Lynn asking the city government of Lowell to join in a crusade for bringing about radical changes in the tax laws of the state.

The first action on finances was the passage of an order to transfer $8222.72, the balance of the unexpended appropriations of various departments for the year 1920, to the general use of departments for the payments of payrolls and other bills outstanding against the city.

Next came favorable action on an order to appropriate $95,055.72 from any unexpended balances in the treasury for the payment of general debts against the city.

With Emergency Clause Attached

Both orders went through with the emergency clause attached certifying that the immediate appropriation of the money was necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety of the city.

Bills were passed authorizing the board of assessors to include in the tax levy for 1921 the total sum represented by the two orders.

Mayor Thompson read the letter that had been received from Mayor Walter H. Creamer of Lynn. The proposal for tax reform advocated by the Lynn man, which he wishes to have approved by the Lowell government, include the following alterations in the laws:

The allotment of one-quarter of the money now received from motor vehicle fees, and which is now entirely absorbed by the state, to municipalities and towns.

A tax of six to ten per cent. on intangible property.

An increased income from a tax on merchandise and stocks in trade of local corporations which are not now taxable.

In his letter the Lynn mayor asserted his belief that the municipal government of Lowell shared with the government of his own city a feeling of dissatisfaction over the way in which corporation taxes had been distributed this year by the state.

On Same Basis

He said he believed that corporations should pay taxes on the same basis as other property owners with a slight excess for the right of doing business. He asserted he felt it was right that the increase in the tax rate should apply to intangibles as well as tangibles, and that otherwise real estate development would be halted.

Mayor Thompson said that the proposition to give the municipalities a share in the motor vehicle tax had been under consideration before, but had always been strongly opposed by the public utilities department of which John N. Cole is the head.

The subject may come up for consideration again at the next meeting of the council.

It was voted to transfer $50 received from the Railway Express company for the special services of police officers, from the general treasury to the appropriation for the police department.

Jerome Brunelle, 453 Pawtucket street was appointed a weigher of various articles for the Gage Ice company.

The council is to meet again next Tuesday at 10 a. m.

MAN TAKEN FROM JAIL AND SHOT TO DEATH

JASPER, Ala., Jan. 13.—William Beard, a miner held in connection with the killing of James Morris, a guardsman, on Dec. 23, last year, was taken from the Walker county jail early today by a mob and later shot to death three miles from Jasper.

The jailer and military authorities believed Beard had been rescued from prison by friends, until the body was discovered at the roadside by a rural mail carrier.

The shooting of the guardsman followed the killing of Beard's father-in-law, a striking miner.

MAY PUT A BAN ON "GAS" PUMPS

State Fire Marshal Asserts They Are Forbidden Under the Law

Saunders Says No Licenses for Use of Apparatus Have Been Granted

The complete banishment of gasoline tanks and other obstructions, placed there for commercial purposes, from the streets of Lowell may result from a lengthy conference held in the office of Mayor Perry D. Thompson today. Present at the conference were State Fire Marshal George E. Neal, Fire Chief Edward F. Saunders, Fire and Water Commissioner John F. Salmon, Arthur J. Dorley, representing the Chalifoux Motor Car company, and the mayor.

The conference had under consideration the granting of permission to the Chalifoux Motor Car company to operate a gasoline pump on the sidewalk near its place of business at the corner of Shattuck and Market streets.

The pump was erected last summer. At the time the fire marshal granted a garage license to the owners, he made it a condition that the pump should not be used, and stated that if it were made use of the garage license would be revoked for violation of the conditions under which it was granted.

Says Others Are Doing It

Mr. Dorley, representing the Chalifoux company, asserted this morning that other concerns in Lowell are using sidewalk gasoline pumps, and that the practice is common all over the state. He asserted that he had recently purchased gasoline from two sidewalk pumps in this city, and that one of the owners had claimed that he had a license for using the pump.

Chief Saunders interjected the statement that no permits for the use of street pumps had been granted in this city.

Fire Marshal Neal said that the streets belonged to the public, and that the municipality had no right to sanction their use for commercial purposes. He cited a court decision that a street lunch cart is a highway obstruction, and that no permit granted by a city could be used to absolve the owners from prosecution

DISSOLUTION ORDERED

Court Orders General Federation of Labor in France to Disband

PARIS, Jan. 13.—Dissolution of the general federation of labor, was ordered today by the court which has been hearing the case against Leon Jouhaux, president of the federation and other of its officers, on charges of infringements of the law governing unions. Fines of 100 francs each were imposed under Jouhaux and four other federation officials.

The trial of Jouhaux and his associate officials, was begun Dec. 16. The infringements of the law charged against them, were of a technical character such as the admission to membership in the federation of irregularly formed unions like those of the teachers and postal and other civil services. The federation, however, was charged with having political objects instead of merely the defense of the economic interests of its members.

URBAN LEADS IN POPULATION

More Than Half Population of U. S. Now Living in Urban Territory

First Time in History of Country That Urban Territory Has Led Rural

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13—For the first time in the country's history, more than half the population of the continental United States is living in urban territory. Persons living in cities and towns of more than 2500 when the 1920 census was taken numbered 54,318,022, the census bureau announced today, while those living in rural territory numbered 51,330,730.

The population of the cities and towns in 1920 showed a gain of 5.6 per cent. over that in 1910, and was 51.4 per cent. of the total population of the country. The proportion of urban population is larger than in 1910 in all but three states—Colorado, Montana and Wyoming—the largest increase being that for Michigan—from 47.2 in 1910 to 61.1 per cent. in 1920.

The urban and rural population of the New England states follows:

Connecticut, 936,339 and 414,292.
Maine, 299,569 and 465,445.
Massachusetts, 3,650,248 and 202,103.
New Hampshire, 272,761 and 168,322.
Rhode Island, 552,180 and 15,217.
Vermont, 109,976 and 242,152.

STORK LEADS DOCTOR A MERRY CHASE

Five Births Within Few Doors of Each Other In Two Days—Not Yet Certain that Bird Has Gone South For Winter

SPENCER, Jan. 13.—The stork has been a busy bird in this town for the past day or two. Five births in five homes, all within a few doors of each other on Church street, is his record as alleged by formal certificates filed today by Dr. Joseph Houle. "The stork led me a merry chase," said the doctor. "A girl on one side of the street followed a boy on the other side, then a girl was born in the same yard and a boy came in the next house. I was pretty weary by that time but the stork kept up his neighborly visitations and left behind another baby girl across the street. Fortunately I live on Church street myself."

The physician added that it was not yet certain that the stork had gone south for the winter.

PRISON LIFE TERRIBLE

Girl Sentenced Here Appeals to Gentlemen Friends for Bail Money

Annie Servant, the girl who led the high life in Lowell for a short time and escaped from the police station to be caught later in a camp at Mountain Rock, is still in the house of correction in Cambridge awaiting bail of $500.

Two local lawyers had occasion to visit Cambridge yesterday and talked with her on planning the presentation of her case and also on the matter of securing bail. Annie wept and declared that confinement in the house of correction will drive her insane. She has to scrub floors just like an ordinary person, she said, and besides, she doesn't get any butter on her bread.

She gave the names of three of her men friends in this city to her counsel asking that they be requested to furnish enough money so that she can secure the services of a professional bail commissioner and thus secure her freedom until her case is called.

FORMER EMPRESS OF GERMANY NEAR DEATH

DOORN, Holland, Jan. 13.—Former Emperor William of Germany and others at the house of Doorn, the residence of the former emperor, are convinced that the death of former Empress Augusta Victoria is a matter of only a short time, and are resigned to the inevitable. Dr. Haehner said today that her condition was such that she might linger indefinitely, although it was becoming increasingly serious.

Every detail for the funeral has been worked out. A Doorn florist has been ordered to keep constantly a stock of flowers on hand, and one of the employes of the estate has been given a list containing the names of friends and royalties to whom telegrams are to be sent when the end comes.

Former Crown Prince Frederick Wilhelm arrived here today from Wieringen.

CREW TAKEN OFF AS SHIP SINKS

Norwegian Steamer Ontaneda in Distress for Several Days Abandoned at Sea

Steamship Fanad Head Reaches Scene Just in Time to Rescue Crew

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—The Norwegian steamship Ontaneda has been abandoned at sea and her crew taken on board the steamship Fanad Head which left St. John, N. B., Jan. 6 for Dublin and Belfast. A wireless message from the Fanad Head relayed here by the steamship Imperator, reported the abandonment today.

When last seen the Ontaneda was standing on her beam end and rapidly sinking, the message said.

The Fanad Head went to the scene in response to repeated S.O.S. calls arriving just in time to effect the rescue of the men on board. The captain of the Ontaneda and six of his men were badly injured the captain having had several ribs broken when the ship was tossed about by a storm.

After the rescue the Fanad Head proceeded on her voyage.

REFUSES TO ABDICATE

King Constantine Not to Yield if Allies Refuse to Recognize His Rights

ATHENS, Jan. 12.—King Constantine will not abdicate the throne, even if the allied nations should refuse to recognize his rights as Greek sovereign, he declared here today.

"I will not abdicate," he asserted. "There is no reason to ignore my recall by the Greek people. Can anyone find any people of Greece who want me to go away? The French insist upon carrying out a campaign against me. But perhaps it is not so much against me as it is an excuse to get the treaty of Sevres revised and to force the Greeks out of Smyrna."

TORONTO TO WELCOME U. S. BALLOONISTS

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 13.—When the three American balloonists—Lieuts. Kloor, Farrell and Hinton—arrive here late today from Mattice they will be welcomed at the railroad station by Controller Maguire on behalf of the city and a delegation from the Aero club of Canada. The program of entertainment simply calls for an informal reception at the Aero club headquarters, a banquet having been cancelled on account of the altercation between Farrell and Hinton at Mattice, upon their arrival there after their perilous flight into the wilds of the Hudson Bay region.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Two more group meetings of the membership of the Chamber of Commerce were scheduled for today, the first at 4.30 and the second at 8 o'clock. The 4.30 o'clock meeting yesterday was very lively and brought out discussions and suggestions that will prove valuable to the directors of the chamber. An invitation is extended to all the members of the chamber to attend these meetings and take part in forming the program of activities for this year. The summer recreation plan of dividing certain streets into playground areas which originated and was put in practice in this city last summer, has met with unlimited praise from other chambers throughout the country, according to information received this morning.

The American city bureau, which has been conducting a drive here for the past few days, will soon issue a bulletin magazine which will contain an article on this recreation and plan favoring such an idea. The magazine will be sent to all the commerce chambers or boards of trade in the country and through this means Lowell is expected to be placed in the forefront in the matter of summer playground and recreation ideas. A meeting of all the team captains in the membership drive will be held this evening in the Colonial restaurant to make final reports and clean up any details in reference to the campaign.

WADE SENTENCED TO BE HANGED

Was Convicted of Murdering George Nott at Bridgeport Last August

Sentenced Today To Be Put to Death Before Sunrise on May 20

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Jan. 13.—Elwood B. Wade, convicted of murdering George Nott in his home here last August, was sentenced today to be hanged before sunrise on May 20.

With his eyes fastened on the judge and his head erect, Wade listened to the words "hanged by the neck until dead," without the quiver of an eyelash.

"Thank you, sir," he said, picking up his hat and coat and walking to the stairway leading to the cells. As he left the room, he glanced over his shoulder, nodded to the guard, and descended the stairs with a smile.

State's Attorney Homer S. Cummings announced that the trials of Ethel Hutchins Nott and John Edward Johnston, both indicted on charges of first degree murder in connection with the killing of Nott, would be held next month.

Mrs. Mary S. Wade, wife of the condemned man, learned of the verdict as she lay in bed in St. Vincent's hospital, where she was taken upon her collapse in court Tuesday.

"I knew it, I knew it," she sobbed. "I felt he would be convicted. What is to become of my poor innocent children?"

Wade's children have written letters daily to their father. They believe that he is in a hospital.

Smiled at Verdict

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Jan. 13.—The jury in the Nott murder case, after being out for six hours, returned a verdict at 10.30 o'clock last night, finding Elwood B. Wade guilty in the first degree of the murder of George E. Nott.

Wade, standing erect beside Deputy Sheriff Fassenella, listened to the verdict with a smile and in the same apparently disinterested way that he has listened to the damaging testimony that was given against him during the trial.

The courtroom was crowded with the same curiosity seekers that have cluttered up every available foot of space in the court since the trial began.

The father of young Wade was the only member of his family present when the verdict was announced.

As he listened to the jurors' verdict he shook and broke into weeping. He waited until the crowd left the court and later talked to his boy.

After the courtroom was cleared Wade arose, stretched himself and, talking his hat and coat, calmly walked out with Deputy Fassenella.

MAYOR OF CORK AT WASHINGTON

O'Callaghan Testifying at Hearing Describes "Reign of Murder in Ireland"

Declares Life and Property Insecure — Deadlock in Controversy

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Donal O'Callaghan, lord mayor of Cork, who came to America as a stowaway without a passport and whose presence in the country has caused a controversy between the state and labor departments, today appeared before the commission of the committee of 100 investigating the Irish question and gave his story of conditions in his native land.

He declared that the killing of the late Lord Mayor MacCurtain of Cork and other Irish leaders in March, 1920, marked the beginning of "a reign of murder" in Ireland which had rendered life and property "entirely insecure."

He gave his age as 29 and told the commission that he had been elected lord mayor by the corporation council of Cork to fill out the unexpired term of the late Lord Mayor MacSwiney, who starved himself to death in Brixton prison, London.

Wilson Keeps Hands Off

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—While the departments of state and labor continued at loggerheads over settlement of the question of his admissibility to this country, Lord Mayor O'Callaghan of Cork, who arrived at Newport News last week as a stowaway without a passport, was here today to consummate the announced purpose of his visit to America by appearing before the commission of the committee of 100 investigating conditions in Ireland.

Indications that President Wilson would leave to his cabinet officers the ironing out of the inter-departmental difficulties which have arisen were believed to have removed all possibility of any sudden development in the case that might result in the termination of the lord mayor's parole by Secretary of Labor Wilson.

Reference of the case by the state department to the department of justice was imminent today, officials of the former department having stated that such action would be taken to secure execution of its order for O'Callaghan's deportation, should Secretary Wilson continue his refusal to recognize state department jurisdiction in the case.

On appearing before the Irish commission today, Lord Mayor O'Callaghan was prepared to relate particularly the story of the burning of Cork and events leading up to it. Other witnesses to appear included Peter J. MacSwiney, brother of the late Lord Mayor MacSwiney, who was O'Callaghan's companion on the stowaway trip across the Atlantic, and Frank Dempsey, chairman of the urban council of Mallow, Ireland.

Political Collapse of Austria Near

PARIS, Jan. 13.—(By Associated Press).—The complete political collapse of Austria within a month is expected in official Austrian circles here.

"It is no longer a question of months," said Baron Eichoff, the Austrian minister to France, today. "It is only a question of weeks, perhaps days."

PARIS, Jan. 13.—Although the French government has received no confirmation of the report that the Austrian government had found itself no longer in a position to continue and that it had declared its intention to retire Jan. 15, and place the administration of the country in the hands of the reparations commission, it was indicated at the foreign office today that no surprise would be occasioned there if it were to develop that Austria was unable to meet her obligations.

COUNTESS FELL 300 FEET TO HER DEATH

LONDON, Jan. 13—A woman visitor at Westminster Cathedral yesterday fell 300 feet from the Campanile (St. Edward's tower), and was killed.

She later was identified as the Portuguese Countess da Ribeira Grand, who had been missing from a Chelsea nursing home, where Count Grand also resides.

The top of the Campanile is protected by a stone wall four feet high, and a metal guard rail. This is the first accident since the tower was erected. In the summer time some 200 people ascend it daily.

The body was found on a small balcony below; every bone in the body was broken.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

By Theatres' Own Press Agents.

THE STRAND

A cripple and cynical woman-hater, trusting no one and loving no one, Osbert Gaunt, past 40 years on life's road, has become an embittered monomaniac with but one thought, and that to revenge himself on the woman who in his youth jilted him when she availed herself to marry wealth. The opportunity at last presents itself through this woman's young and handsome daughter. Misgivings and misunderstanding the girl Gaunt eventually persuades her to marry him, and then plans to make her life miserable to pay for the suffering her mother's act caused him. Pretty Elaina Hammerstein is seen in the leading role and her splendid work as the "daughter who pays" makes the plot development logical and plausible. This splendid picture, "The Daughter Pays," is being shown daily for the remainder of the week at The Strand, and lovers of powerful dramatic effort, and emotional attainment should not miss it. It tells a strong story.

"Scratch My Back," one of Rupert Hughes' delightful comedy hits, which is the second feature on the program is a laugh-producer of the first water. It has more genuine humor in its lines and actions than one can possibly imagine. Helene Chadwick, called the handsomest girl in the world by General Nivelle, hero of Verdun, establishes in this picture her right to be called one of the most accomplished comediennes on the screen, and the others in the cast are equally as pleasing. The remainder of the bill is rounded out with the usual comedy and Weekly, as well as musical numbers by Miss Elsie Robbins. Don't fail to see it all.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

When you look for a good show this week, don't pass the entrance to the B. F. Keith theatre, where a bill of selected headliners holds forth, headed by none other than Ruth Roye, the queen of all syncopation singers. Miss Roye is noted all over this land wherever vaudeville is given, and at her opening here on Monday she quite eclipsed all previous efforts. However, this is not a one-person show, for Toto, the internationally famous clown, is placed on the bill, in his very carefully prepared act. And Polly & Oz, a youthful couple in a musical turn, are not without touches of real class. Other acts on the bill are as follows: Drew & Wallace, Thornton & Holland, Wright & Earl and Martin & Moore.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Film fans of this city are assured of one of the finest comedy treats in "The Rookies Return" which is the big feature for the last three days of the current week at the Merrimack Square theatre. Douglas MacLean and Doris May, two of the most popular funsters on the screen today, are the featured stars. "The Rookie's Return" is hailed as the companion picture to "23½ Hours Leave" which was greeted with such approval when it was shown here. The story deals with the trials of a doughboy who returns from France and finds it difficult to adjust himself to the exigencies of civilian life, especially when he comes into a fortune and has to deal with the servant problem. The love romance, which is strong coupled with the humor of the situations, makes this one of the most enjoyable comedies. "The Education of Elizabeth," featuring Billie Burke is the second big picture. A comedy, International News and Travel Pictures round out the bill.

RIALTO THEATRE

Two pictures that class the program with the best of the present season will be seen at the Rialto theatre this afternoon in the showing of E. K. Lincoln's strong story, "The Inner Voice," and the eastern story, "Pagan Love." Both are reputed as among the best novels and have deep well laid plots. "The Inner Voice" is presented upon a scale which has never been equalled and which in fact would have been considered absolutely impossible a few years ago. It is the story of a man who gave everything he had to the world and who received in return treachery, unfaithfulness and disgrace. It compares favorably with Hugo's "Les Miserables" or Thackeray's "Vanity Fair" and will find instant appeal with the hundreds who see it for the three remaining days of this week. "Pagan Love" is the characterization of a blind white girl who married an honorable Chinaman and who realized her mistake after she recovered her senses through an operation. It's a strong program for the week end and everybody should see it.

OPERA HOUSE

The elaborate staging and costuming of "The Love of Su Shong," the novelty play being presented with such marked cleverness and artistic finish by the Lowell Players at the Opera House, is only one of the many delightful features of the presentation. Director Bennett and the management have gone to considerable expense to secure the extensive settings and wardrobe, but nothing has been neglected and the result is most satisfying. Miss Fields as the lovable little Chinese girl, and Milton Byron as the young American, are exceedingly clever in parts that call for exceptional work, while the supporting cast is praiseworthy.

Next week's presentation will be Owen Davis' great play, "At 9.45," which scored such a pronounced success in New York recently.

BILL FOR STATE AID TO WAR VETERANS

(Special to The Sun)

BOSTON, Jan. 13.—The American Legion is to conduct an aggressive campaign this year for the enactment of a bill providing for state aid to war veterans who are anxious to establish homes of their own.

Yesterday, a bill based upon a petition of John P. Holland, who is legislative agent for the American Legion, was filed with the clerk of the house. It is almost identical with the measure which was filed in the senate last year by the then President Edwin T. McKnight, and which was rejected by the legislature.

It provides that any war veteran who was a citizen at the time of his enlistment or who has since formally indicated a desire for citizenship, shall upon proper application be provided with a dwelling house costing not more than $6000. Each applicant is required, under the terms of the bill, to make an initial deposit of 5 per cent of the value of the property, and to pay such monthly instalments as will complete the payments at the end of 25 years.

Provision is made that the state, at the discretion of proper officials, may grant the property outright to any veteran who becomes permanently disabled while occupying one of the state's houses.

Administration of the project, the bill provides, shall be in the hands of a soldiers and sailors homestead commission, to be appointed by the governor. HOYT.

TEWKSBURY VOTERS HOLD MEETING

An article relative to the omissions and corrections of the names on the memorial tablet of the ex-service men of the town.

An article for the appointment of a finance committee to consist of 12 members from the various sections of the town with a member from the board of selectmen, school committee and road commissioners.

An article authorizing the town to appoint a committee to confer with the officials of the Boston & Maine and the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway company in an endeavor to improve transportation service in the town. Before the meeting adjourned the selectmen were requested to confer with the Lowell Electric Light Corporation for figures to be presented at the town meeting, relating to electrically lighting the town with special attention to the highway to the Wilmington line.

COAL MEN HAVE CORNER ON FIRES

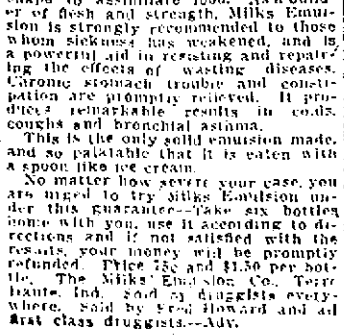

An alarm from box 219 shortly after 6 o'clock last evening was for a fire in the office of the Thorndike Coal Co. in Thorndike street. The fire started in the boiler room of the building and worked its way to the rear of the office via the partitions and gave the firemen considerable trouble. The damage was not great. This building was damaged by fire recently and from the same source, the boiler room, the firemen stated.

At 9.45 o'clock last evening there was an alarm from box 31 for a small blaze in the yard of the Hope Coal company at the corner of Hale and Howard streets. The fire was started by a spark from a locomotive No damage.

HER BOY HAD ALWAYS BEEN WEAK AND PUNY

How He Eats Everything in Sight and Romps With Playmates

"My four year old boy had been weak and puny since birth, and had constipation and indigestion. Nothing did him any good until we tried Milks Emulsion. Since using it, he can't get enough to eat and has outgrown his childhood trouble. He plays out with the children now, and he was never able to do that before."—Wm. Heart, 424 Bundy ave., New Castle, Ind.

Weak, ailing children usually start eating and getting stronger from the very first bottle of Milks Emulsion. Most children like to take it, because it really tastes good. A trial costs nothing.

MEMBERSHIP DRIVE

For the American Association For the Recognition of the Irish Republic—Two Meetings

Two large and enthusiastic meetings of the A.R.I.R. were held last evening. The George Washington branch met in the Sacred Heart school hall, Moore street.

The meeting was arranged for the purpose of increasing interest in the membership drive and all reports indicated that this branch promises to be one of the largest in the city. At the present time there are 600 members enrolled.

Rev. John P. Flynn, O.M.I., pastor, was chairman of the meeting and he congratulated the committees for the effective work they have accomplished in increasing the size of the organization. Mr. Michael J. Sharkey and Mr. W. E. Reilly of the Lowell Normal school were the other speakers.

Excellent musical numbers were rendered by Mr. Martin H. Maguire, the popular tenor, and Miss Maurine Quinn, a talented soprano. Mr. Albert Farrell was the accompanist of the evening.

The second meeting, held in Hibernian hall, Middle street, was presided over by John Barrett, president of the Lowell council of the association.

Routine business was at first carried out and then Stephen Flynn, chairman of the Lowell membership drive committee, took charge of the meeting and urged all to do their utmost to put the city over the top during the remaining few days of the drive. He intimated that all the districts are competing for the highest honors and so are keeping their membership rolls secret until the final day.

Y.M.C.A. FORUM MEETING

At a meeting of the Y.M.C.A. Forum last night Benjamin Pouzzner, formerly of Community Service, Inc., said that the only way that international problems could be settled without fighting was through the League of Nations. "From a practical point of view," he said, "the United States must enter the League of Nations. So long as one nation has the right to take another to task over something that nation resents, so long will war and bloodshed continue," said Mr Pouzner. He also treated the Monroe Doctrine and its status under the League of Nations, saying that it is safeguarded rather than threatened.

BISHOP COHALAN DENIES GERMAN-IRISH PLOT

LONDON, Jan. 13.—Reports that Count von Bernstorff had interceded in support of the appointment of the Most Rev. Daniel Cohalan as bishop of Cork in 1916, which were in circulation during the fall of 1917 and were reproduced in the "White Paper" relative to German-Irish activities, issued last Saturday by the British government, are denied by Bishop Cohalan.

The bishop has written a letter to the Times stating that he heard the report in 1917 and wrote to Pope Benedict regarding it. He gives the text of the reply from the Vatican, dated Nov. 29, 1917, which reads:

"The holy father, who surrounds you with his benevolence, charges me to reassure you and to persuade you to disregard all such press statements as wholly unfounded."

The letter was signed by Cardinal Gasparri, papal secretary of state.

DON'T SQUEEZE BLACKHEADS—DISSOLVE THEM

Squeezing and pinching out blackheads make the pores large and cause irritation—then, too, after they have become hard you cannot get all of them out. Blackheads are caused by accumulations of dust and dirt and secretions from the skin and there is only one safe and sure way and one that never fails to get rid of them—a simple way, too—that is to dissolve them. Just get from any drug store about two ounces of calonite powder—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet sponge—rub over the blackheads briskly for a few seconds—wash off and you'll be surprised to see that every blackhead has disappeared, and the skin will be left soft and the pores in their natural condition—anyone troubled with these unsightly blemishes should try this simple method.—Adv.

GENERAL STRIKE NEAR

Tension Over Economic and Political Situation in Austria Increasing

VIENNA, Jan. 12.—Tension over the existing economic and political situation in the Austrian republic seems to be increasing.

Doors of the big hotels in Vienna are shuttered at dusk because of communist demostrations against them as symbols of profiteering.

Postal employes have announced they have called a strike, the socialist element demanding that these workers be organized as union labor. The conservatives refused to say whether they will declare a strike against the strike of their co-workers.

Mail collections ceased tonight and telephone and telegraph service will be suspended tomorrow if matters are not settled before that time. It is believed, however, that an adjustment is improbable and that a general strike will be called. Workmen demand that the deduction of the income tax from their pay envelopes cease, until the capital levy law enacted by the national assembly is enforced. They declare they will continue their strike until profiteering is checked.

The government today drafted drastic regulations against profiteering providing for heavy penalties for violations of the law. Notable among the laws which have been allowed to become dead letters is one which ordered that tags showing the fixed price of articles of luxury have not been affixed to these goods. At present articles not under government control are offered at fabulous prices.

The government has conceded new salary increases totalling more than four billion kroner annually, and has announced 10b per cent increases on the postage and freight rates to be charged for tobacco, salt and alcohol.

Officials in foreign circles who have come in close contact with the situation, assert Austria is approaching a climax of some sort and the general uneasiness was increased by a report printed here today that former Emperor Charles was already on his way from Switzerland to Hungary.

Thirty per cent of the men between 18 and 60 show evidences of approaching organic disease, or already have it, says a noted physician.

The average American white man lives 50 years, and the average woman 51, according to insurance figures.

FOR REGULATION OF HIGHWAY TRAFFIC

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Endorsement by 19 national organizations of a comprehensive code of principles for regulation of highway traffic was announced today at the conclusion of a conference called to consider greater uniformity in state and municipal traffic laws.

The conference commended regulations prohibiting issuance of license for operation of motor vehicles to any person under 16 years of age, and set the minimum age for a chauffeur's license at 18 years. The conference agreed that motor vehicles licensed in one state should be permitted to operate in another state without license there under for three months.

Heavy penalties were recommended for such offenses as operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor, reckless driving, and for the theft of motor vehicles.

Organizations endorsing the principles included the American Automobile Association, Federal highway council, International Association of Chiefs of Police, and National Safety Council.

PETITIONS FILED BY SENATOR PEARSON

(Special to The Sun)

STATE HOUSE, Boston, Jan. 13.—Senator Gardner W. Pearson filed in the senate today a petition of City Treas. Fred H. Rourke, asking for legislation to provide that trust funds of the city of Lowell may be deposited in co-operative banks.

The senator also filed, upon his own petition, a new resolve providing for an investigation by the department of public utilities relative to the comparative cost of furnishing street transportation by different methods. The full text of the resolve follows:

"Resolved, that the department of public utilities be directed to investigate the comparative safety and cost of service to responsible common carriers in carrying passengers on highways by electric railway or automobile. Said department shall report to the general court on or before June first, nineteen hundred and twenty-one, the comparative cost of service and safety to passengers and others under equal conditions of speed and line schedules in large vehicles operated by two men, and small vehicles operated by one man, on highways in thinly and thickly settled districts. Said report shall also include a brief summary of the effort in blocking and delaying traffic in congested districts by the use of relatively small self-propelled vehicles (carrying 15 passengers each) not confined to rails and capable of making detours as compared with the use of relatively large self-propelled vehicles (carrying 35 or more passengers each) confined to rails and an opinion on what seems to be the time necessary to receive and discharge passengers for each such type of vehicle. Such report shall further include a brief comparative statement of the use of vehicles running on rails and those not running on rails as common passenger carriers in London, Paris and Berlin in nineteen hundred and thirteen. HOYT.

APPEAL FOR FUNDS BY LOWELL GUILD

The Lowell Guild is making an appeal to the public for funds to carry on its work during the coming year. It is the desire of the officers of the organization to give as widespread an opportunity as possible to the people of the city to share in the beneficent work that it has been carrying on economically and satisfactorily for years. An appeal has recently been issued by the guild, which says:

"A nursing staff at the call of any Lowell resident—caring for all but contagious cases—is a vital factor in preserving Lowell's health. It is strictly a Lowell service to relieve suffering, fight disease and banish babies enemies. The guild starts the baby, the citizen of tomorrow, on the road to health, spreads the gospel of hygiene knowledge to the mothers of the race, and brightens the lives of 'the other half of the world.' The guild bathes and dresses the new-born infant, gives after care in maternity cases, cares for surgical cases, calls on prospective mothers, visits chronic invalids, points the way to material aid, cares for the aged and infirm and is ever ready for any call.

"Any resident of Lowell, rich or poor, may get this service by simply calling 2124, or sending a messenger to 17 Dutton street. Those who can, pay 75 cents and upward per visit. Those who cannot afford it pay less, or nothing.

"In the effort to reduce the large infant death rate the guild holds three conferences each week for baby welfare work, at which practical demonstrations are given the mothers of the manner of preparing food and the care of infants. The nurses then visit the homes of the sick babies to make sure that instructions are carried out.

"In the summer time four conferences, free to all, are held each week, one at the Pilot school, one at the Greenhalge school, and two at the guild rooms.

"The demands on the guild are constantly increasing, making necessary a larger budget to carry on its activities, but we feel sure that, as in the past, the people of Lowell will respond generously for the support of this most necessary work. Please make your checks payable to Athel M. Murkland, assistant treasurer, 17 Dutton street."

NERVOUS, IRRITABLE, AILING WOMEN

Mrs. Britten Tells How She Was Restored To Health After Suffering for More Than A Year.

Another Triumph for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Dimondale, Mich.—"I had inflammation and a displacement and weakness, and it had been neglected so long that it caused great pain, and this affected my mind and nerves so that I was very irritable. I had severe pains every month, so that I was often obliged to lie in bed for two days at a time. I suffered for more than a year before my friends said, 'Why don't you try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?' So I purchased one bottle after another until I had taken ten bottles, then Lydia E. Pinkham's SanativeWash. I received so much benefit from this treatment that I am now able to do my own work."—Mrs. W. D. BRITTEN, R. No. 2, Dimondale, Mich.

Another Michigan Woman says:

"I was bothered for a long time with female troubles and was so nervous I felt almost afraid at times. I also had a pain in my right side and was certainly in a bad way. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has relieved me of these nervous feelings and pains and I am much better in every way. I don't know just how many bottles I have taken, but I took it for nearly a year and it has done me a world of good."—Mrs. JESSIE GRANGER, R. No. 8, Box 51, Kalamazoo, Michigan.

Good health is a woman's greatest asset. With it she may be the inspiration of her husband, a happy mother, and the life of the home. Without it she suffers agonies herself, household duties are a burden, and her family is made miserable by her condition.

Is it any wonder that these women were nervous and irritable after suffering so long from such deranged conditions? Such ailments act directly upon the nerves, and it has been said that a large percentage of nervous prostration, nervous despondency, "the blues," and nervous irritability of women arise from some derangement of the female organism.

If women who are in this condition would only profit by the experience of others and take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once, much suffering and unhappiness would be averted, as everyone knows a nervous, irritable, ailing mother makes the home unhappy and her condition irritates both husband and children.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women" will be sent to you free upon request. Write to The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Massachusetts. This book contains valuable information.

Millions enjoy the supreme pleasure of La Touraine. Many who would pay any price for coffee, prefer La Touraine because it has a flavor that can be had in no other coffee.

Different* from other coffee

Users of La Touraine declare that it is "different" from any other coffee because it's so rich, so full of coffee-goodness. But La Touraine is just coffee—honest coffee produced with all the skill and care that can be lavished on coffee by life-long coffee experts, because all La Touraine conforms to the famous La Touraine Formula.

What is the La Touraine Formula?

The La Touraine Formula is a coffee ideal—the guiding principle of this famous Boston coffee house. Under it the finest coffees are chosen from the world's great markets. These coffees, selected by type and kind, are carefully examined for perfection of bean. They are then blended scientifically to bring out the delicious properties of each, and roasted by experienced roast-masters to just the fine shade and aroma that "cooks them to a turn." The La Touraine Formula is the secret of "The Coffee of Good Taste."

Insist on the La Touraine Package

Do not accept La Touraine unless it is in the La Touraine package. Buy it in the package marked "bean" and have your grocer grind it fresh for you. You will then get the utmost flavor in your cup.

PEACE IN BASEBALL

All Factions Bury Hatchet and Major and Minor Leagues Sign Agreement

CHICAGO, Jan. 13.—Organized baseball yesterday swept the last vestige of disagreement from its ranks in a series of conferences which brought signed peace agreements not only between the major and minor leagues but between individual club owners who have vigorously opposed each other in affairs of administration and policy.

The two major leagues signed the new national agreement making Judge Kenesaw M. Landis baseball commissioner with supreme powers and the minor leagues also signed an agreement with Judge Landis as their ruler, but it differed in one empowering word from that signed by the majors.

This difference, it developed was due to a misunderstanding in the joint meeting of drafting committees Tuesday when the agreement was drawn up, and it was announced that the minors later would sign an agreement identical with the one approved by the major organizations.

Besides signing the national agreement, the individual major league club owners affixed their signatures to a contract in which they agreed not to criticise publicly each other or talk about one another and to accept any decision made by Judge Landis regardless of their personal opinion of it.

Included in the signatories to this agreement were President B. B. Johnson of the American league and two of the three club owners who have fought his administration, Charles A. Comiskey of Chicago and Jacob Ruppert of New York. Harry Frazee of Boston, the third, announced that he would sign. He was not present when it was drawn up.

The signing of the new national agreement brought a sharp statement from Judge Landis concerning the powers he must have and led to erroneous reports that he had issued an ultimatum giving the club owners 15 minutes in which to make changes he demanded. The judge did not set a time limit but did tell the club owners that his powers must be supreme.

When the copy of the new national agreement was brought before the league representatives it contained a section saying that the commissioner after investigating any affair he considered detrimental to baseball, could "recommend such action as he deemed advisable."

Judge Landis interrupted the reading of the document to say that this must be made to read "take such action."

"You have told the world that my powers are to be supreme," he said. "To give me the power merely to 'recommend' takes all power out of my hands. I will retire from the room, gentlemen, and you can discuss this matter. But I want you to know that either I must have power to take such action as I wish or else you had better seek a new commissioner. I would not take this job for all the gold in the world unless I know my hands were to be free."

On motion of President Johnson, the major leaguers voted to substitute the word "take" for "recommend," but it was found that the minors were not in official session and that the matter would have to go through their drafting committee again.

Representatives of minor leagues in a standing vote assured the judge that they had considered "recommend" the same as "take" in that they were bound to abide by his decisions, but that as soon as the agreement could be formally taken up again the word would be changed and they would sign.

Last night the major leagues signed the contract with Judge Landis making him commissioner for seven years at $50,000 a year. The national agreement will remain in effect so long as Judge Landis is commissioner.

Judge Landis, however, has stipulated that his salary of $7500 a year as judge should be deducted from his baseball salary, so he actually will get only $42,500 a year from baseball.

The new agreement also provides for restoration of the draft with prices scaled down from $5000 for class 1 AA leagues to $1000 for class D. The American association and the new International leagues remained out of the draft while the Pacific coast league and other class AA organizations went in.

New players' contracts covering what the club owners termed the "ethics" of the game were approved by the majors.

One clause in the new form of contract provides that the player pledges loyalty to his club and "pledges himself to the American public to conform to high standards of fair play and good sportsmanship." The player also promises to abide by all decisions of the commissioner, and to keep himself in good physical condition throughout the season.

Plan Early Prosecutions

CHICAGO, Jan. 13.—With the various league and inter-league disagreements settled at yesterday's baseball meeting, the club owners, Judge Landis, baseball commissioner, and the state attorney's office last night began formulation of plans which it was expected would result in an early trial of the men indicted for conspiracy in the throwing of games in the 1919 world series and which it was hoped would stamp out gambling and game throwing in baseball.

George Gorman, assistant state's attorney, who has been placed in charge of the baseball case, announced that the indicted men would be arraigned about Feb. 2 and that an immediate trial would be held so that the case could be disposed of before the playing season opened.

The American league appropriated $10,000 to be used in the prosecution of the men and Judge Landis issued a statement saying that even if the men were found not guilty they would not necessarily be allowed to return to organized baseball.

"Whether the accused men are found guilty or innocent, the trial will result in the stamping out of gambling," said Judge Landis, "for suitable action will be taken against any men who have not acted justly in fulfilling their contracts."

NOT TO JOIN NEW NATIONAL ASSOCIATION

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—The New York state boxing commission and license committee yesterday declined to become a member of the newly formed National Boxing association of the United States, which has been in session here for the last three days. The decision of the commission was made public by Chairman Johnson, who attended the sessions as the representative of New York, after the afternoon meeting.

"It is our decision," the statement, given out by Chairman Johnson reads, "that we cannot subordinate our functions and authority, clearly defined in the Walker law, to the jurisdiction of an outside unofficial body of any character.

The Massachusetts state boxing commission, in a letter sent to the New York commission, announcing that it would not be represented at the national convention, has taken the same position.

POLO NOTES

The rejuvenated Lowell Polo club will play its first home game tomorrow night with Bridgeport as opponents.

Mallory, who has been secured to play goal in place of Lovegreen, did not report at Worcester last night, but will be on hand here tomorrow night, Captain Hardy announced today.

Ferdie Harkins, who will be in there working for Lowell tomorrow night, will undoubtedly receive a very cordial greeting from the fans. The followers of the game here appreciate what he has done for Lowell in former seasons, and all realize that his return to the local lineup will mean a vast improvement in team play. Harkins plays and teaches team work, and never enjoys being a member of a team where individualism takes precedence over combination endeavor. He will do the floor work for Lowell, and a man to handle this important part of the game has been needed on the local team. Hary has few superiors as a defensive player but, owing to inferior work on the rush line, he found it necessary to do much offensive work, going up the floor many times in an endeavor to score goals. But with Harkins in the lineup, Hardy will give more attention to blocking, and consequently both departments should show a pronounced change for the better.

If "Bob" Hart continues to hammer them in at his present rate he will soon be having it out with Duggan and Kid Williams for the top position in the scoring column.

HONOR B. C. CHAMPIONS

Gov. Cox, Mayors of Boston and Newton and Judge Extol Gridiron Heroes

BOSTON, Jan. 13.—The Boston college football eleven, victors in every game they played last fall, were hailed as the champions of the east last night by Gov. Cox, the mayors of Boston and Newton and Judge E. C. Bonniwell of Philadelphia, president of the Veterans' Athletes association. This organization by vote has declared the team the title holders of 1920, and on Jan. 26 will formally present a trophy to mark the distinction. Judge Bonniwell announced that the Boston eleven gained the award because it defeated all comers.

His statement was translated into a slogan by Major Frank Cavanaugh, coach of the team, who said that in coming years the public would demand that all college teams follow it. The coach's statement followed a reference to Yale's refusal to meet Boston college again after two successive defeats and to what he said was a tendency of the times among the larger colleges of the country to gloat over defeats of smaller teams, sidetrack their if they became too strong and call it sport to concentrate everything of effort in one game a season.

Jack Heaphy, stack rowing centre of the past two Boston college elevens, was elected captain for next fall last night.

CATHOLIC BOWLING LEAGUE CONTESTS

In the two contests of the Catholic Bowling league on the Crescent alleys last night, the Sacred Hearts rolled a team single of 586, which is said to be a record for the season. In the Mathews (North Billerica)-Burkes contest the latter team won by just five pins and yielded only one point to their opponents. The summary:

Mathews (North Billerica)—Lafontaine 309, Dolan 265, Collins 273, Delehanty 251, Shomhom 271; totals 1469.

Burkes—O'Dea 267, Casey 279, Kennedy 262, Quinn 301, Lane 324; totals 1431.

Battling Levinsky, former light heavyweight champion, meets Bombardier Wells at the same place tonight. Wells ruled a favorite today.

THE BOWLING CONTEST

What was acclaimed a very unusual occurrence was the tie bowling contest rolled by the Orients of Lowell and the Calumets of Ayer last night on the Legion alleys in Dutton street. Both teams are composed of Legion members and there was a large number of spectators on hand to watch the game. Out of three strings the Orients took three points and the totals were tied at 1350 pins. The high men were: Lowell—Hart, 252; Ayer—David, 260. The summary:

JOHN H. FARRELL AS SECRETARY TO LANDIS

CHICAGO, Jan. 13.—John H. Farrell of Auburn, N. Y., for 20 years secretary of the National Association of Minor Leagues, is slated to become secretary to Judge Landis, commissioner of organized baseball, it became known today. Farrell has received a tentative offer, but the question of salary and the term of office has not been considered. It is known, however, that he will decline unless the term is for seven years or more. Farrell receives a salary of $7500 a year as secretary of the minor leagues.

Organized baseball entered a new era today, governed by new agreements and administered by Judge Landis as dictator. Revised agreements governing league and players relations were approved by both major and minor clubs yesterday and the appointment of Judge Landis was ratified.

The first meeting of Judge Landis with the new baseball advisory board was held today. The board consists of M. H. Sexton of Rock Island, Ill., and Mr. Farrell, representing the minor leagues.

Subjects discussed at the meeting included: Rules to promote co-operation and understanding in carrying out the provisions of the new agreements, procedure for settling differences between the majors and minors; plans for hearing disputes between leagues of the same classification in the minors or between the teams of one league.

The assessment for the government of baseball has been raised and the rule awarding the four world's series umpires a flat $1000 each has been replaced by one which stipulates that the four shall divide a sum equal to one losing and one winning player's share.

PLAN TO HOLD REAL COUNTY FAIR

Lowell will have a real county fair with all the fixin's, including horse racing, if plans that were formulated and given a push toward realization at a meeting Tuesday of the Lowell Driving club and Agricultural society are carried out. It is hoped that all of the agricultural interests of northern Middlesex county and the business men of this city will join in helping to make the big show a success. It is planned to have the fair held in Golden Cove park next September.

The club voted to continue its membership in the National Trotting association. The recent death of Charles J. Morse, an active worker in the club, was commemorated in a series of resolutions that were adopted. It was voted to hold the annual banquet of the club early in February.

The following named officers were unanimously re-elected: President, I. E. Wotton; vice president, A. B. Humphrey; treasurer, Thomas H. Braden; secretary, Arnold Ryan; directors, D. Belleville, M. R. Bradford and L. C. Clark.

WEAK NERVES DUE TO SICK GLANDS

Many "Nervous Wrecks" Taking Animal Gland Treatment With Splendid Results

Recent scientific discoveries will be of particular interest to the thousands of people suffering from nervous diseases. It has been found that our nervous systems are largely under the control of our ductless glands. When our glands are healthy our nerves are calm and strong. But when our glands become run-down our nerves quickly give away and we soon suffer a nervous breakdown.

The old way of treating nervous complaints was to drug the nerves. In other words it attacked only the symptoms. But now we go to the cause—we build up our run-down ductless glands. And this, it has been found, can be accomplished by feeding them with extracts from the glands of sheep and cattle.

This new method is embodied in a remarkably effective preparation called Glandex Compound, which contains these extracts, also iron and other health builders in tablet form. Many physicians are prescribing this new treatment for their patients, and the results as they report them are truly remarkable. Men and women who for years suffered with various nervous diseases experience decided relief in an amazingly short time.

Neurasthenia, however, is not the only ailment for which Glandex Compound can be effectively used. Thousands are taking it for anaemia, old age and its attendant weaknesses, lack of energy and general run-down conditions.

Glandex Compound may be obtained at all druggists and is sold under a money-back guarantee. If it fails to bring entirely satisfactory results in a very few days its purchase price will be refunded. The Glandex Company, Inc., 244 West 19th St., New York City

LONDON, Jan. 13.—Assertion that the Greek offensive in the direction of Brussia, Asia Minor, has failed, is contained in a Rome despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Co., under yesterday's date. The situation as Smyrna is serious, it is declared, and it is probable that the new Greek commander-in-chief will be recalled.

MERRIMACK MILL BOWLERS

NOTES

Captain O'Dea of the Machine shop team claims that the pins were bunched when the Spinners won three out of four points from his team.

The Machine shop won the first string and everything was O.K., but when it lost the second and third strings all that could be heard was that the pins were bunched, according to the Spinners. Why not be good losers? The Spinners are not in the lead, but—

Roberge and Fullerton are starting to hit their stride. Fullerton at one time was one of the best bowlers in the city.

Atkinson of the machine shop is the best loser on the team. Good luck, Emil!

Hundreds of Lowell Men Were On Hunger Strike

Had Refused to Eat Fearing Torture of Stomach Trouble That Usually Follows

A Brighter Life Now Looms Up Before Them After Taking the Splendid Toxo Treatment

It was found that hundreds of Lowell men were actually starving themselves rather than eat and suffer the consequences that followed. Their stomachs were so clogged up with waste matter and in such a poor condition that no matter what kind of food that they would eat, the suffering became unbearable.

Since the wonderful stomach treatment, Toxo, has arrived in Lowell, these same men are improving remarkably and are finding the joy in life that they had heretofore been missing. They have tried the Toxo treatment with huge success. Their appetite has grown and they can now eat most anything without a thought to whether their stomach will stand it or not.

You will meet these men most anywhere in Lowell. Ask them about this remarkable treatment. If you are bothered with stomach ills, you will find the remedy at Dows' Drug Stores, on Merrimack street. Just ask for Toxo, the treatment for constipation, indigestion and other stomach ills.—Adv.

AUSTRIA DONE TO DEATH

Austria has officially notified the entente that she can no longer continue her government, being left entirely without the resources necessary to sustain a people.

Ever since the decrees of the peace conference took effect, what was left of Austria was in a most pitiable condition.

Why should Austria be any worse than the other nations? may be asked. Ah! there is a very logical reason why Austria has come to the point at which she has to abandon her government and in order to save even a remnant of her people, throw herself upon the tender mercies of the reparation commission.

The main cause of the present distress was the severance of Vienna from the territory of which it was the industrial and commercial, as well as the political centre.

That severance was decreed by Lloyd George, President Wilson and Clemenceau of France, with a lot of empty talk as to their regard for the ethnographic unity and relationship of the racial elements involved. President Wilson was made the tool of carrying through some of the worst national tragedies ever enacted in the history of the world; and it would be difficult to find one so palpably outrageous as that of Austria. If those three officials had sat down and exerted their combined ingenuity in devising a plan by which to extinguish the Austrian nation, they could not have adopted a scheme more fatal or more terrible. Already scores of thousands have died of cold and starvation in Vienna and practically all of those who survive are so undernourished that they are mere skeletons.

Mr. A. G. Gardner, the well known writer of the London Daily News, after a visit to Vienna, said:

"Although pity is the first emotion awakened, it is a fierce tide of anger that ultimately takes possession of the mind for this terrific crime in the heart of Europe is not the work of war but of peace, not of men blinded by the savageries of organized war, but of men sitting securely around a table in Paris deliberately assassinating a nation and plunging the whole of Central Europe into a wreckage unlike anything which the infamies of men have perpetrated in the past. If Vienna had been blotted out from above or swallowed up from beneath, it would have been a more merciful fate than the mutilated life and lingering death to which the peace criminals of Paris have doomed it."

That language was used when Mr. Gardner visited Vienna last October and in view of recent facts and the state of despair in which Vienna is found at the present time, his words were not only true but prophetic. In her past history Austria was one of the pillars of European civilization, memorable as the rock against which the Saracen invasion that had threatened to engulf Europe, was broken and hurled back. It was the capital of one of the leading empires of Europe and the pivot of a vast, economic and industrial system.

"Today," says J. L. Elliott, writing in the Survey, "this great city lies a decapitated head which has been struck from the body, its members having been hacked away and strewn to the four winds. The political dismemberment of Austria might have been justified, but the economic dismemberment with its bitter consequences in the lives of humble folks, was as gratuitous as it is deadly. Vienna was the financial and administrative centre of 50,000,000 of people; but now it is cut off from its coal supplies and food supplies, from its factories, from everything that means existence; it is enveloped by tariff walls. The manufacturer cannot go to a spinning mill without a passport."

That is surely a pitiable story. The city of Vienna was left a coal mine, but it was in Teschen over which the Poles and Czechs fought for its possession without interference by the entente. Meantime Vienna was coalless. Jugo-Slavia, another fragment of this dismembered wreck, wants agricultural machinery. It cannot have it, because the coal is in one section of the old empire, the factories in another, and the untilled land in a third. Thus the empire has been partitioned into rival factors which have set up tariff barriers based mainly upon self-preservation and in which Vienna is the chief sufferer. Each helps to starve the other, while to some extent starving itself; but it is Vienna, the heart of the economic system, that has been doomed to cruel starvation and lingering death. It is as if blockaded by a strong fleet and deprived of all the things necessary to the existence of a city or a people.

The tragedy of Vienna and Austria is one of the saddest in all history. It may be said that it was Austria that caused the war. True, but she was but a secondary factor in the war and there was no justification for this form of exterminating a whole capital. Over half the population of Vienna is dead and unless relief comes, those remaining will die by the thousand daily this winter. This is the work of the "big four" who sat about the peace table at Paris and assassinated nations in the name of peace and civilization.

HARDING'S INAUGURATION

The decision of President-elect Harding to cut out the expensive ceremonial in connection with the inauguration ceremonies at Washington on March 4th next will be generally approved throughout the country, but not in the capital. Ever since the days of Lincoln, the inauguration of a president has been regarded in certain quarters as a sort of political circus which offered an opportunity to the Washington hotels to reap a rich harvest in exorbitant charges and that brought political aspirants for office and a motley assortment of time servers from all parts of the country, ostensibly to honor the new president, but in reality to advance their own political schemes.

The railroads, too, were in the combination to crowd the capital with visitors during the inaugural week, for of course, those who came from a distance were not likely to turn their faces homeward immediately after the inaugural ceremonies. No, they wanted to see the city of Washington and all its historic places and they could not do so in less than a week and so their excursion tickets permitted a stay of a week at least. Thus the custom grew until it became almost a national fixture, and one on which many a second or third rate hotel made almost as much in a week as in the remainder of the year.

It is not surprising, therefore, that from Washington is heard a general howl over the decision to conduct the exercises with the utmost simplicity and freedom from display. The great parade and the inauguration ball in which Washington society had an opportunity to shine have been eliminated and as for the expenses, it is understood that the plan is to keep as close as possible to the limit of ten dollars laid down by Senator Borah. The lamentations and protests in Washington will be as loud and as bitter as might be expected from the farmers of the northwest if some sudden visitation destroyed half their harvests of golden wheat. It is now apparently decided that Mr. Harding will take the oath of office on the steps of the capitol, where all who wish can see free of charge—in the good, old democratic style. It is safe to say in view of the circumstances, that the Hardings will not be readily forgiven in Washington for this departure in favor of practical economy and a proper regard for the fitness of things at a time when business depression is brooding all over the nation.

CARNEGIE AND THE KAISER

Andrew Carnegie's widow has published the great ironmaster's autobiography, written during Carnegie's "playtime in Scotland." The volume isn't as valuable as it might have been had more space been given to subjects like forges, blast furnaces, and processes for transforming iron ore into steel, and less to men and topics foreign to the steel industry.

Writing of the former kaiser of Germany, Carnegie set down: "He is, I believe, an earnest man, anxious for peace and progress of the world. * * * he is, and always has been, for peace."

Andy Carnegie never could have been so mistaken in his size-up of a steel executive or mill hand. But in steel he knew of what he was talking. That makes a large difference. Further he said:

"I have for some time been haunted (1907) with the feeling that the emperor (now Wilhelm Hohenzollern) was indeed a Man of Destiny. I have great hopes of him in the future doing something really great and good. * * * Whether he is to pass into history as only the preserver of internal peace at home, or to rise to his appointed mission as the Apostle of Peace among leading civilized nations, the future has still to reveal."

There never would have been the Carnegie multimillions, and probably never the great steel corporation, if Andrew Carnegie had chosen his Coreys, Schwabs and Farrels with as poor judgment as he picked his "Man of Destiny" and "Apostle of Peace."

Yet it may be said that the German emperor, whether dissembling or not, appeared to be all that Carnegie said of him at that particular time. The emperor had a knack of concealing his character from strangers and to Americans he usually put on an air of apostleship in everything good. In this way he deceived a great many who presumed to be better judges of public men and rulers than was Mr. Carnegie.

It would relieve the tension somewhat if the versatile newspaper correspondents, having named about every available spot around the capitol as the place where Harding is to be inaugurated, would get together and arrange to make their stories a little more consistently alike.

Our newspaper neighbor says that "faith which can move mountains oozed away from us several years ago after one or two experiments in municipal reform." What a gelatinous kind of faith it must have been to have "oozed."

The dime novel was once considered one of the principal causes of juvenile delinquency, but even the worst of them might be looked upon as Sunday-school homilies teaching good conduct, compared with some of the modern movie films.

Horace Greeley's famous dictum that "All democrats are not horse thieves but all horse thieves are democrats," might be paraphrased to read, "All who oppose the proposed new city charter are not municipal employes, but all city employes are opposed to it."

Fuel Administrator Hultman's efforts to reduce the price of coal would be more encouraging if it did not seem as though in the past they had been confined largely to using up space in the newspapers.

Since the good book tells us that it is wicked to call a fellow man a "fool," no suitable word seems available to describe the pessimist who insists on making "business depression" much worse than it really is.

Withholding the News

This police chatter about withholding news in order that the ends of justice may not be defeated is all tommy-rot. There are lots of crimes committed throughout the city, that nothing is said about and that something should be said about. If house thieves, for instance, are active the people should know it so as to guard against them. But the policy of the police is not to give out anything until an arrest is accomplished and then they want a big splurge made about it. If the mayor doesn't know this he ought to know it.

Forbidden Fruit

What is this strange desire all folks have to do prohibited things? Street car signs declare one must not alight from a moving car. People do it every car stop. It is against rules to smoke in a balloon basket. They have to search sailors for matches and tobacco every trip. Obviously a street car in motion is a dangerous object. An Eskimo riding his first street car would no more dream of jumping from its platform than you would of holding a lighted flame beneath the explosive vapors of a balloon casing. Post a sign in Eskimo declaring jumping prohibited and immediately you tell the Eskimo that other men have dared to jump and that they lived. He knows that must be true or you would not have warned him. Same with the balloon. Declare it against the rules to smoke and you declare that others have done so and lived to tell the tale of their daring. Instanter man's competitive instinct is aroused. He must do the hazardous thing the other fellow did.

My Love

Not as all other women are
Is she that to my soul is dear;
Her glorious fancies come from far,
Beneath the silver evening star,
And yet her heart is ever near.

Great feelings hath she of her own,
Which lesser souls may never know;
God giveth them to her alone,
And sweet they are as any tone
Wherewith the wind may choose to blow.

Yet, in herself she dwelleth not,
Although no home were half so fair;
No simplest duty is forgot,
Earth hath no dim and lowly spot
That doth not in her sunshine share.

She doeth little kindnesses,
Which most leave undone, or despise;
For naught that sets one heart at ease,
And giveth happiness or peace,
Is low-esteemed in her eyes.

She hath no scorn of common things,
And though she seems of other birth
Round us her heart entwines and clings,
And patiently she folds her wings
To tread the humble paths of earth.

Blessing she is; God made her so,
And deeds of week-day holiness
Fall from her noiseless as the snow,
Nor hath she ever chanced to know
That aught were easier than to bless.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

"Take a look at that," said Dan Lane, the city hall cop, as he drifted over to the reporters' table in the council chamber in the "municipal palace" the other day and laid down a yellowed and somewhat-frayed-around-the-edges newspaper. It was a copy of the Ulster County (N. Y.) Gazette published a little more than 121 years ago. It bore the date of January 4, 1800. About one-third of the first page was given up to the doings of congress, which included the reception of a message from President John Adams. The rest of the page was given over to news from London. It is not until we turn to other pages of the paper that we get at what must have been the "big story" of that day. It is an account of the death of George Washington, and of his burial at Mount Vernon. The "lead" in the story of his death is a poem. The authorship is ascribed to "A Young Lady." It begins:

"What means the solemn dirge that strikes my ear?
What mean those mournful sounds—
why shines the tear?"

The father of his country showed wisdom in selecting the time for his departure from earthly scenes—it was in time to escape having to read the poetry that was to be written about him. The account of his death does not shed much light except that it makes clear the one fact that he died. The account of the burial is printed beneath the date line of Georgetown. It opens with the statement, "On Wednesday last the great Father of his Country and friend of mankind was consigned to his tomb." It is with something of a shock that we realize only a little ways from the death story an advertisement offering a "stout, active" female slave for sale.

CAMBRIDGE, Jan. 13.—Joseph F. Lautner of Evansville, Ind., president of the Harvard university glee club and chorister of the senior class for whom search was begun last night, after an absence of several days is at the home of an aunt at Denver, Colo., his parents notified the college authorities today. He is sick and in a physician's care. Lautner had suffered a nervous breakdown recently, and it was believed by classmates that he had a recurrence of the attack. As president of the glee club, he has been planning for its projected tour of France next summer.

Simple Home Treatment Makes Breathing Easy

Just because you start the day tired, lifeless, worn-out from loss of rest and the difficult breathing of miserable Asthma—do not think you have to stay this way long.

Be strong and well, breathe clearly and easily again by using this simple treatment known as Oxidaze, the prescription of a Worcester, Mass., physician.

For any form of Asthma where the bronchial tubes are irritated, the breathing short and difficult, its healing, relieving action is really wonderful. Sufferers who can't breath at night and who gasp for a good, clear breath will appreciate the relief and comfort Oxidaze gives.

Oxidaze is a tablet made from essential oils which, when the patient dissolves in the mouth, almost immediately soothes the irritation, clears out the choked up air passages and enables the sufferer to breathe easily and get a real comfortable night's sleep.

It is sold by Lowell Pharmacy; Liggett's; Greens drug store and leading druggists who agree to refund the full purchase price of the first package to any sufferer who does not obtain satisfactory relief. Asthmatic sufferers should give Oxidaze a trial. It is harmless and inexpensive.—Adv.

NOTE—Change of date and place of meeting.

COLUMBUS, O., CITY HALL DESTROYED

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 13—The city hall, one of the oldest public buildings in the city, across the street from the state house, was destroyed by fire last night. Nearby business blocks, threatened by the flames, were saved with slight damage to roofs.

The fire started on the third floor in a gymnasium from an unknown cause. Children playing there escaped in gymnasium costumes, and members of the city council, in session, fled to the street.

Many valuable records were destroyed, it is believed, although steel filing cabinets were counted on to preserve some of the most valuable.

Council members, estimating the loss on the building and contents at $300,000, said steps would undoubtedly be taken at once to rebuild. No insurance was carried on the building.

GLOOMY WHITE WAY

All New York Cabarets and Dance Halls Must Close at 1 O'Clock

NEW YORK, Jan. 13—Merriment along the "Gay White Way" received a setback when police made the rounds early today of all cabarets and dance halls with orders to rigidly enforce the state excise law forbidding them to remain open after 1 o'clock.

A series of raids by plain clothes detectives resulted in the arrest of three bartenders charged with selling liquor without licenses.

Announcements of closing at this unwonted hour, with the diners and dancers having nowhere to go but home, dropped on cabarets like bombshells. But there was a general exodus to the streets.

Some managers, who conduct all-night restaurants, after the amusement ban refused to close their doors.

Thomas Healy, who manages a series of uptown resorts, said he had received no closing order. "If those wicked people down around the loop" he said, "want to keep open with music and dancing, that's none of my affair. I'm not violating the law."

HEAD OF AUTO THIEVES JAILED

BOSTON, Jan. 12.—Ernest Blevins, twenty-four years old, of Cambridge, who had been a fugitive from justice since September, 1919, and who was one of the leaders of the gang of auto thieves that had a rendezvous in Billerica woods, was sentenced by Judge Cox yesterday in Middlesex superior court to state prison for from two and a half to three and a half years.

Blevins was the "go-between" in recruiting young men to steal automobiles for the chief of the gang, John J. Buckley, who is serving a long term in state prison. There were twenty-four indictments against Blevins when he jumped his $5,000 bail a year ago last fall. Blevins surrendered himself Monday.

He was bitterly arraigned by Special Prosecutor George S. Harvey and Attorney Henry F. Hurlburt. Attorney Harvey told Judge Cox that he thought Blevins should be punished severely because of his pernicious activities.

Harvey said boys of tender years were induced to steal cars and that many high grade machines were stripped and disguised in Billerica woods. He said Blevins had caused the county much trouble and expense. He said Blevins was Buckley's principal lieutenant.

BRIGHTON WOMAN

Endorses Sister Mary's Compound for Children Suffering With Sore Throat and Tonsils

"Too much cannot be said in praise of Sister Mary's Compound and its benedit to children suffering from sore throat and tonsil trouble. My little daughter has been bothered for weeks with a cough every night just as soon as she was abed and sometimes it seemed as if the poor child would strangle. Her nights were almost sleepless and although I tried everything from prescriptions to remedies advised by friends and druggists, nothing gave her as much relief as the first dose of Sister Mary's Compound. My husband had lost his voice from cold which settled in his chest and lungs. For two days he was unable to utter more than a faint whisper. One big dose of your valuable compound restored his voice and relieved him of the congestion and he was able to report at the station for duty the next night.

We are very glad to recommend Sister Mary's Compound to all for coughs and throat troubles," says Mrs. Mary Sullivan, 51 Elna st., Brighton, Mass.

AMERICA'S DRY, BUT FAR FROM BONE DRY!

BY E. M. THIERRY.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—National prohibition's first official birthday occurs Sunday. Some will celebrate it; others will commemorate it.

Prohibition, as a war-time measure, was a year old last June 30. The eighteenth amendment, however, went into effect Jan. 16, 1919.

The amendment's first birthday directs attention to some interesting situations. For instance:

Forty-eight million gallons of liquor in bonded warehouses, costing Uncle Sam $1,000,000 a year to guard.

Withdrawals on permits of 1,050,000 gallons a month, which will exhaust the bonded supply in four years.

Additional withdrawals of 1,000,000 gallons a month of "non-beverage" alcohol, manufactured by 78 distilleries, paying government tax of $5,800,000 a month.

Much liquor being smuggled over Canadian and Mexican borders.

Much liquor being manufactured illicitly in this country.

Liquor on sale by the drink, quart, and case in most cities.

Bill pending in congress to investigate prohibition enforcement.

Charges of liquor graft, bribery and corruption pending in many cities.

Ambiguous rulings by government departments resulting in legal and illegal manufacture of intoxicants.

Quest For Stills

Commissioner Williams of the Internal Revenue department, says during the year his agents destroyed 6,539 illicit distilleries, 7506 illicit stills, 2378 worms, 98,345 gallons spirits, 40,116 fermenters, 7,712,042 gallons fermented mash, 137,550 gallons wine and cider—and seized, but did not destroy—122,865 gallons of spirits.

Yet paraphernalia for distilling whisky—especially the important "worm"—are openly displayed for sale in many cities.

The commissioner's report shows 17,565 persons have been arrested in the United States for violation of the prohibition law, of whom 17,429—nearly 100 per cent—have been recommended for prosecution.

Total penalties and taxes under the Volstead act of $22,571,636.59 have been assessed against violators of the law.

Some Odd Angles

Here are some serio-comic angles to prohibition's birthday:

Rulings permit a man who owns a grape arbor to make 200 gallons of wine a year—wine with a kick. But a woman who owns a box of raisins may not make even a fruit drink from them.

A farmer may make all the hard cider he can drink; but a city man may drink only sweet cider doctored to prevent fermentation.

A manufacturer may put a kick in mincemeat, but a hotelkeeper or housewife is not permitted to do it.

More than 150 rulings and regulations have been issued, many conflicting, by Attorney General Palmer, Prohibition Commissioner Kramer and Revenue Commissioner Williams.

"Prohibition is more destructive to life and morals than firearms," says Hudson Maxim, famous inventor. "The eighteenth amendment is a school for crime."

"The crime wave cannot be blamed on prohibition," says William J. Burns, famous detective.

"Prohibition has made America a better country in which to live," says General Booth of the Salvation ...

Consumption Drops

Commissioner Kramer says 65,000,000 gallons of liquor were consumed every six months before prohibition, and that it has now dropped to 15,000,000 gallons in six months.

However, this does not include the hootch smuggled into the country and manufactured here.

William H. Anderson, state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League in New York, warns that "there is grave danger of a prohibition nullification program being put over by politicians and liquor interests."

"The new congressional apportionment will call for 50 or 60 new congressmen, practically all from larger cities that were wet," says Anderson. "The only way to defeat nullification is to bring about such enforcement by marshalling public sentiment that prohibition will win new converts, and so have federal and state laws in harmony."

The prohibitionists are determined to make prohibition really prohibit. But they expect it will take some time yet to accomplish this.

FILES IMPORTANT LABOR MEASURE

(Special to The Sun)

STATE HOUSE, Boston, Jan. 13.—Representative Owen E. Brennen of Lowell has filed with the clerk of the house an important labor measure, the purpose of which is to give laborers engaged in construction work a lien upon the property in case they are not paid for their labor. Under the terms of the bill, the claim of a laborer is given absolute priority over every other claim.

The measure was referred today to the joint committee on the judiciary, where it is certain to be the subject of a bitterly contested hearing later in the session. It reads as follows:

Section 1. A person to whom a debt is due for personal labor performed in the erection, alteration, repair or removal of any building or structure shall have an underlying lien upon such building or structure and the land upon which it rests and upon the interest of the owner therein.

Section 2. The owner or owners of any building, structure or land upon which labor is performed as provided in section 1 shall be liable in an action of contract to the person performing such labor.

Section 3. The lien shall be dissolved unless the person claiming it, within 20 days after he ceased to labor on or to furnish labor or materials for the building or structure, files in the registry of deeds for the county or district in which it is situated a statement signed and sworn to by him or a person in his behalf, giving a just and true account of the amount due him, with all just credits, a description of the property intended to be covered by the lien sufficiently accurate for identification and the name of the owner or owners of such property, if known. If a lien is claimed for labor only performed or furnished under an entire contract which includes both labor and materials at an entire price, the contract price for the number of days of labor performed or furnished and the value of the same shall also be stated. The statement shall not be invalid or insufficient solely by reason of an inaccuracy in stating or failing to state the contract price, the number of days of labor performed or furnished, and the value of the same if it is shown that there was no intention to mislead and that the parties entitled to notice of the statement were not in fact misled thereby.

Section 4. The validity of the lien shall not be affected by an inaccuracy in the statement relative to the property to which it attaches, if such property can be reasonably recognized from the description, nor by an inaccuracy in stating the amount due for labor or materials unless it is shown that the person filing the statement has wilfully and knowingly claimed more than is due to him.

Section 5. Nothing in this act shall prevent the persons entitled to a lien under it from maintaining an action at law against the person for whom the labor was performed as well as against the owner or owners of the land, building or structure upon which it was performed and as if he had no lien.

Section 6. All acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed. HOYT

"WOOF!" SAID WOLF

As He Went After Julius Hendrickson

(N.E.A. Staff Special)

HELENA, Mont., Jan. 13.—"Don't feed with a wolf just because he looks thin and sick" advises Julius Hendrickson of Hathaway.

Julius ought to know. He has just climbed from a tree where a wolf chased him.

A wolf had been raiding stock. Julius set out poisoned meat.

When he saw a scrawny wolf foaming at the mouth, he thought he had his poison victim.

Julius swung a shovel at the wolf.

The wolf dodged, then started for Julius.

"Woof! Woof!" said the wolf.

Julius threw the shovel, then started for the nearest tree.

The wolf kept him there for hours.

Bounties were paid on 111 wolves killed in Montana last year. Forty-six mountain lions and 10,621 coyotes were killed.

DEATH NOT CHEATED

Minister, Revived One Day, Falls Dead Next

(N.E.A. Staff Special)

HAHIRA, Ga., Jan. 13.—Rev. B. P. Fain was host at a preachers' conference. He fell in a faint. Others "laid him out," thinking he was dead.

His son, Rev. R. D. Fain, went to tell his mother of his father's death.

Rev. John Stanford entered the church, prayed upon the platform, with his knees and parted his arms violently.

Breath returned.

Rev. Fain resumed his duties at the conference the next day. A physician said he had suffered only an acute attack of indigestion.

He went to the station to bid goodby to departing clergymen.

On the way home he fell in the street.

No one was near to resuscitate him, and he expired.

Ends Stubborn Coughs in a Hurry

For real effectiveness, this old home-made remedy has no equal. Easily and cheaply prepared.

You'll never know how quickly a bad cough can be conquered, until you try this famous old home-made remedy. Anyone who has coughed all day and all night, will say that the immediate relief given is almost like magic. It takes but a moment to prepare, and really there is nothing better for coughs.

Into a pint bottle, put 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, the full pint saves about two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, and gives you a more positive, effective remedy. It keeps perfectly, and tastes pleasant—children like it.

You can feel this take hold instantly, soothing and healing the membranes in all the air passages. It promptly loosens a dry, tight cough, and soon you will notice the phlegm thin out and then disappear altogether. A day's use will usually break up an ordinary throat or chest cold, and it is also splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness, and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, the most reliable remedy for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton.

"THE TWINS ARE RESCUED"

When Nancy and Nick awoke and discovered that the Eskimo's hut had disappeared and with it the good fellow who had called himself Ishtu, they missed the carved box that held all their charms.

"It wasn't Ishtu at all," declared Nick, blowing upon his cold fingers. He was right after all, and very soon in the starshine the children made out a dark line coming toward them. The dark line took form as it drew nearer and after awhile they were able to discern half a dozen Eskimo dogs drawing a sled. A man was behind the sled guiding it.

THE CHILDREN MADE OUT A DARK LINE COMING TOWARD THEM—ESKIMO DOGS DRAWING A SLED

He and Nancy were out quite in the middle of a bare snow field, you know, near the South Pole. "It must have been that wicked old Bobadil Jinn who is trying to prevent us from going any farther on our journey. If we only had our shoes we could wish ourselves into a warmer place, but they are gone, too."

Suddenly they heard a dog bark then another and another.

"Oh, Nick, do you s'pose he's set his dogs on us?" cried Nancy fearfully.

But Nick spoke up with more bravery than he felt. "Pooh! No! That's a friendly bark and I'm going to whistle."

Which he did as loudly as he could.

"Hello!" called Nick. "Are you looking for us? Here we are."

The man answered something, but what it was the children could not understand.

"Don't you see? We've lost our language charm," Nick said to Nancy. "The bit of pink silk out of the mushroom's hat that the Fairy Queen gave us was in the carved box. We shall now be able to understand anybody in strange lands until we find it."

But the man was kind, and lifted the kiddies into his sled, and took them to his house not far away.

It was the real Ishtu and the hut was the one marked on the lost map.

GOES up stairs like a girl now. Billerica Woman, at 70, Says Tanlac Has Made Clear Sweep of Her Troubles

"I have certainly never heard of anything to equal Tanlac during the 70 years of my life, and the medicine has just proved a blessing to me," said Mrs. H. Lloyd of 4 Rogers st, North Billerica, Mass.

"For 39 years I suffered dreadfully with rheumatism in my legs, arms and shoulders and in fact all over my body. For months at a time I didn't go out of the house and the pains became so severe I didn't even dare try to walk. I couldn't sweep the floor or do a bit of work about the house and my back hurt so bad I couldn't bend over to pick up anything. Why, at times I was in such pain I couldn't even turn myself in bed.

"My nerves were so shattered everything seemed to worry me, and I would just tremble like a leaf. My appetite was so poor I didn't want anything to eat, and even the little I did manage to eat caused me such distressing pains they were almost unbearable. My kidneys were badly disordered, and my back and sides pained me almost continually. I had terrible, blinding spells of headache and dizziness, and to tell the truth was nothing more than an invalid.

"I was continually taking all kinds of medicines without any relief until my daughter, who had obtained splendid results from Tanlac got me to try this medicine, and it just proved a blessing to me. I have taken four bottles of Tanlac and four bottles of the Tanlac Rheumatic Treatment, and the rheumatism has so completely disappeared I can go anywhere I want to now and do any kind of work about the house without it bothering me. Why, I never have an ache or pain and can go up a flight of stairs like a 16-year-old-girl.

"I have a wonderful appetite, too, and my stomach doesn't cause me a bit of trouble. My kidneys are in fine order, those awful pains have all gone from my back and sides, and I'm free from headaches and dizziness. My nerves are as steady as a clock, I sleep like a child every night, and I am now doing my housework for the first time in over four years. I will always be grateful to Tanlac, and expect to keep it on hand for the balance of my days."

Tanlac is sold in Lowell by Greens drug store, under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative, by Wright Drug Co., Billerica, Mass., and by the leading druggist in every town.—Adv.

WOULD MAKE ALL STATES AS DRY AS MASS.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—The house went up and down the ladder in voting yesterday on appropriations for inforcement of the prohibition law.

First rejecting an amendment to the pending approproation measure under which the bureau of internal revenue would be given $100,000,000 to break up outlaw liquor traffic, the house adopted, 86 to 48, an amendment by Representative Volstead of Minnesota, father of the law, increasing the total from $6,500,000 to $7,100,000. Before this vote was taken, the house, jumping from one extreme to the other, defeated without count an amendment limiting the amount to $1,000,000.

There was a tinge of old-time prohibition bitterness in the half-hour debate preceding the final clearing away of the whole question as to how far congress should go in, making the country "bone dry."

Pleading for a larger sum than had been fixed by the appropriations committee in framing the legislature, executive and judicial bill, Mr. Volstead gave warning that the country would be heard from if it was the policy of congress to cut down appropriations and make the job of enforcement a joke. Mr. Volstead said he merely proposed a figure nearer that which the attorney general had requested.

Representative Gallivan, democrat, Massachusetts, gavet the house its first indication that a fight was brewing by proposing to make the appropriation $100,000,000. Taking up the statement of Mr. Volstead that a good part of the money spent would come back in fines, he said:

"Why this mite? Let's go the limit. Let's help the new administration by bringing back $100,000,000.

Referring by name to Wayne Wheeler, general counsel of the Anti-Saloon league, as "Mr. Volstead's legislative advisor," Mr. Gallivan declared Mr. Wheeler has said he would make it so dry in Massachusetts "its people would spit cotton."

"They are doing that now," he declared. "I want to say to the Anti-Saloon league that Massachusetts today is the only state in the Union that is enforcing the prohibition law. I contend that the sum I suggest is a drop in the bucket when you consider how much is needed to enforce the law in the rest of the country."

Representative Wood of Indiana, chairman of the sub-committee in charge of the bill, strongly opposed an increase, asserting that not one dollar should be added until the law's enforcement was placed squarely with the department of justice.

Representative Cramton, republican, Michigan, declared that any reduction would be like serving notice on the people that a reaction had begun and that an era of lawbreaking was beginning.

There was a roar from both sides of the chamber when Mr. Gallivan announced he would accept in place of his amendment a substitute by Representative Stephens, republican, Ohio, cutting the appropriation to $1,000,000. Representative aMnn objected, and all of the three proposals were put to a vote. Mr. Volstead winning, hands down amid applause from the prohibition forces.

CAR SHORTAGE IS PREDICTED

It is the consensus of opinion among automobile distributors and dealers that there will be a shortage of new and used cars next spring. The reason for this is that there has been a curtailed production of new cars all along the line caused by the condition of the retail market.

What happened is that people temporarily stopped buying, thinking that prices of motor cars would come down. Now two months have passed and while some makes of cars were reduced in price others have remained at the old price and in some instances were advanced. This shifting policy led to unstable conditions for a while, but now that the uncertainty prevailing in the industry has worn away business is beginning to pick up and a decided improvement in conditions is looked for at an early date. When the buying returns to anywhere near normal, as it is certainly bound to do, then will come the shortage in all kinds of cars—new and used automobiles. At the present time there are genuine bargains to be had in serviceable guaranteed used cars at George R. Dana & Sons East Merrimack street. These used cars for winter use are selling at an unusually low level, and some are very attractive enclosed cars. These used cars have been thoroughly overhauled and repaired and they represent values that really mean something to the purchaser who has the good judgment to buy now while the prices are low and such a good supply of serviceable cars are on the market.

TO SEARCH FOR LIQUOR WITHOUT WARRANTS

BOSTON, Jan. 13.—To gain for prohibition enforcement officers the right of entrance without search warrants, William J. McCarthy, the agent in charge of enforcement in New England has arranged to have all members of his staff sworn as deputy collectors of internal revenue. This action was to be taken, he explained because "certain officials have held that prohibition agents have no right of entrance."

In a number of cases, liquor seizures have been ineffective because it was held that the officers searched without authority. "These officials," Mr. McCarthy added, "will have to recognize that as deputy collectors the prohibition agents will have the right of entrance to any place where taxable articles are kept or made."

CHURCH SERVICES IN SCHOOL BASEMENT

It is expected that within six or seven weeks mass will be celebrated in the Fourth avenue parochial school building for the French-speaking Catholics of Pawtucketville. The work of raising the building one story in order to build a basement for services was started this morning. The contract has been awarded to Contractor Avila Sawyer, who will rush the job along.

It was intended at first to secure, if possible, the New Moody street school, which is now idle, as a parochial school and to convert the little school house in Fourth avenue into a church, but the city solicitor has opined that the school board has no authority to lease or sell a school building. Accordingly new plans were adopted by which the little Fourth avenue building will be raised one story and services will be held in the lower part of the building.

Contractor Sawyer stated today he expects to raise the building and build a basement without disturbing the classrooms and that the job ought to be completed within six or seven weeks. It is expected that as soon as the lower portion of the building is ready for services His Eminence Cardinal O'Connell will appoint a pastor for the new parish. The work of organizing the new parish is being done under the personal direction of Rev. J. B. Labussiere, pastor of St. Louis' church.

A new piece of office equipment for binding papers holds the sheets together by means of a square eyelet.

If corks are thoroughly soaked in melted paraffin and cooled they can be cut, drilled or turned as easily as soft wood without losing their elasticity.

CONCERT AND DANSANT

Employes of Chalifoux Company Hold Pretty Party at Associate Hall

The popularity of the members of the Chalifoux Co. Employes Mutual Benefit association was demonstrated last evening when between 800 and 1000 people gathered in Associate hall to participate in the seventh anniversary of the organization. The affair was in the form of a concert and dansant and proved one of the most successful events in the history of this popular association.

The decorations were pretty and appropriate and reflected great credit upon Jos. H. Martin, a member of the association, as a decorator. The hall, with its many decorative effects, presented a cheerful atmosphere which prevailed from early evening until the good night number was played by the orchestra. Instead of the usual stage location, the orchestra was stationed in a little square in the centre of the hall, set aside for that purpose, excluded from the view of the merrymakers by lattice work of Japanese design. Overhead the orchestra box was a huge basket of flowers suspended from the chandelier and radiating tiny streamers of blue, orange and white. The four corners of the box were surmounted by tiny pines and little electric bulbs peeked through the streamers. The stage was covered with potted plants. The balconies were trimmed with orange and white bunting, while here and there were rosettes of the national colors. There was a cozy corner which served as a rest room for the ladies. Japanese lanterns were hung in various places of the hall and the decorations as a whole were very neat and attractive.

WILLIAM SOUCI

The guests of the evening were Mayor and Mrs. Perry D. Thompson, Miss Fields, leading lady at the Opera House, Milton Byron, the leading man, and Manager Shanke. There were also representatives from the various store organizations present and all spent a most enjoyable evening. In the early part of the evening pleasing concert numbers were given by the orchestra and at 9 o'clock general dancing was started and continued until the early hours of the morning, refreshments being served at intermission.

The success of the evening was due to the untiring efforts of the following: William Souci, general manager; Miss Mae Bradley, assistant general manager; Joseph Gilley, floor director; Arthur Cormier, floor director; Miss Anna Place, assistant floor director. The aids were the members of the association. The reception committee was composed of the following: Eugene Queenan, chairman; Miss Blennerhasset, Mrs. Morrison, Miss Morrill, Mr. Plant, Mr. Hiser, Mr. King. The refreshments were served under the direction of Edward O'Neill.

DEFY MANUFACTURERS

Garment Workers Issue Challenge—"Will Dictate all Changes"

BOSTON, Jan. 13.—Manufacturers were challenged to attempt to reduce wages or impose more drastic working conditions in a speech last night by B. Schlesinger, president of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' union. The defi was issued at a mass meeting of seven unions affiliated with the international.

"We will dictate all changes that are to be brought about," said Schlesinger. "When we accept a reduction in wages it will be because we have a voice in the dictating of prices on manufacture, jobbing and selling and the profits that each part will get out of the transaction."

The statement was made as an answer to a letter received by individual members from employers, announcing the abrogating of the present working agreement by the cloak and suit manufacturers.

"I will say here that I dare the manufacturers to try and put this new policy into effect," Schlesinger continued. "They have been on their knees to me before and I will further say that if they start any fight to change the hours of labor, instead of your working hours being lengthened, the 40-hour week will be established, and in this way give some of the unemployed a chance to make a living.

"I do not want to give an answer to them now, but will say that a meeting of the general executive committee will be held in this city next week and that the reply will be framed then and sent to the manufacturers."

TO FORM NEW FRENCH CABINET

Poincare, Viviani and Perret Among Those Mentioned to Succeed Leygues

Fall of Leygues Due to Pro-British Attitude on Important Questions

PARIS, Jan. 13.—President Millerand was engaged today in conference with political leaders with a view to naming a man who would form a cabinet to succeed that of Georges Leygues, which resigned yesterday. Raymond Poincare, former president of the republic; Rene Viviani, former premier, and Raoul Perret, president of the chamber of deputies, were most frequently mentioned as the head of the new government.

Foreign relations was the rock on which the Leygues ministry split. The attitude of the cabinet which resigned yesterday in connection with concessions to Germany relative to disarmament and enforcement of the Versailles treaty, especially its at least partial acceptance of the British viewpoint on important questions regarding Germany, did not meet with approval. The Republique Francaise sums up this feeling on the part of the people by saying:

"All we ask is that the new premier, whoever he may be, shall not take Mr. Lloyd George as his foreign minister."

In political circles there is unanimity on two points—that the crisis must be settled as soon as possible and that the new foreign minister must be a man of experience, reputation and authority. All other considerations appear to be secondary.

Study of the vote which resulted in the defeat of the Leygues ministry in the chamber yesterday affords no guidance for President Millerand. It was heterogeneous in character, the motives behind it were confused and no political tendency was indicated.

ELKS WILL HOLD CHARITY BALL

The Lowell lodge of Elks, which has brought cheer and comfort to many homes, especially at Christmas time, by its generosity in extending a helping hand to those in distress, is planning to conduct a Charity ball in Associate hall on Thursday evening, Feb. 3, the proceeds of which will be set aside to be used exclusively for charitable purposes.

The affair has been termed "the most brilliant event of the season," and the various committees working on the arrangements hope to make it such. One of the big features in connection with the ball will be the decorative scheme. The committee has put in much effort in an endeavor to bring about one of the most original and beautiful spectacles in the history of the Hall. In past years the Elks have staged many brilliant affairs, a feature of which has been the elaborate decorations, but those in charge aver that this year's array of colors will surpass all others.

A concert program will open the activities and many high class numbers are now being rehearsed. This part of the evening's program is in the hands of a capable committee, and the members will spare neither time nor expense to make it a pleasing feature. Luncheon will also be served.

JAP KILLS BOSTON MAN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Both the navy and state departments were awaiting today further information concerning the fatal shooting by a Japanese sentry, several days ago at Vladivostok of Lieut. W. H. Langdon of Boston, chief engineer of the United States cruiser Albany. The government has already evidenced its intention of making a careful investigation of the affair, but will take no action until the actual facts have been obtained.

So far the state department has been informed only of the bare fact of the shooting and has requested Consul Macklowan at Vladivostok to forward a more complete report. However, two reports were received late yesterday by the navy department from Admiral Albert Gleaves, commander-in-chief of the Asiastic fleet, giving both sides of the affair. Admiral Gleaves also informed the department he was then en route to Vladivostok to investigate.

The reports to the navy department showed the shooting occurred at night, in front of the Japanese division headquarters, the American's death following a few hours later at a hospital, but showed flatly contradictory statements as to its cause. The Japanese sentry claimed his suspicions were aroused when he saw the officer flashing a hand lamp and called upon him to halt. The officer replied, he said, by firing a revolver at him. This he returned with a rifle shot after which the officer fired twice at him. The sentry ran back to call the guard and when he returned the American had gone. Lieut. Langdon's statement, made after his arrival at the hospital gave an entirely different version. He said he was halted by the sentry, replied to a question as to his identity and proceeded on his way. He had gone only a few feet, he said, when the sentry fired at him, the ball striking him in the back at which he turned and fired two shots. The report further stated that Langdon was in full uniform and that his clothing and the wound itself showed he had been shot in the back, the ball passing out at the left side of the chest.

May Put Ban on Gas Pumps

for obstructing the highways.

The mayor expressed the opinion that if licenses were granted for the operation of gasoline pumps in the highways it would be difficult to draw a line that should close the use of the streets for other commercial purposes.

He referred to the obstruction of Merrimack square by piles of newspaper, and said that continual efforts to have them removed had failed.

Would Disregard Action

Chief Neal stated that any action taken by the municipal council granting licenses for gasoline pumps would not have any effect on future action by his office. He did not deny that pumps, similar to those of the Chalifoux company, are in common use throughout the state. He spoke of the danger of permitting the obstruction of the sidewalks, and said that Boston several years ago ordered the removal of even curbstone clocks.

Mr. Dorley: "How about the one in front of Thompson's spa that I saw awhile ago?"

Mr. Neal: "That has not been in existence for years; there are no such clocks except in the outlying portions of the city.

It was decided to refer the matter to the city solicitor for an opinion on the law involved in connection with the subject under discussion, and the whole subject of street obstruction may come up for consideration at the meeting of the municipal council next Tuesday.

SHOOTING OF OFFICER

Official Japanese Report of Lt. Langdon of Boston at Vladivostok

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Lieut. W. H. Langdon of Boston, chief engineer of the American cruiser Albany, was shot by a Japanese sentry at Vladivostok when he failed to understand or heed a command to halt, said an official version of the incident received today by the Japanese embassy from its government.

Lieut. Langdon, the message said drew a revolver after the sentry pulled back a hood that covered his face in an effort to determine whether he was a Russian or an American. The lieutenant did not fire until after he had turned to walk away and the sentry had shot him.

The message as made public by the Japanese embassy said:

"The Japanese sentry stationed in front of the Japanese staff headquarters at half-past 4 o'clock in the morning saw a man approaching who was using a flashlight, casting its rays upon the front of the staff building. He stopped the man and demanded to know if he were Russian or American. Not understanding the reply made by Langdon the sentry sought to pull back the hood which was drawn over his face to inspect him.

"The officer resisted and drew a revolver, whereupon the sentry stepped back a couple of paces and presented his bayonet. The officer turned to proceed on his way. The sentry called to him in Japanese to stop and when the order was disregarded, he fired. Langdon turned upon the sentry and fired twice at him with his revolver and then collapsed."

The sentry has been arrested, another message to the embassy said, and ordered before a court-martial, which is charged to develop all of the facts upon which the government may proceed further in the case.

Lynn Mayor Sends Letter Asking for Help in Tax-Change Crusade

The municipal council at a meeting today did a double shuffle with the financial accounts of the city and made available $103,278.54 to various creditors. It also received and referred to the city solicitor and board of assessors a letter received from Mayor Walter H. Creamer of Lynn asking the city government of Lowell to join in a crusade for bringing about radical changes in the tax laws of the state.

The first action on finances was the passage of an order to transfer $5222.72, the balance of the unexpended appropriations of various departments for the year 1920, to the general

IN LAWRENCE MILLS

Business Better Today Than it Has Been Since Last Fall, Says Official

LAWRENCE, Jan. 13.—At a conference between mill heads and the local municipal council this morning, James A. MacDonald, superintendent at the Arlington mills, stated that the commission combing business done at his mill is the best barometer of the textile industry and he said that business is better today than it has been since last fall. The Arlington mills are now employing 6500 on part time, a larger number than were employed one year ago.

The Everett mills, it was said, have gone on to full time this week for the first time in two months. Fifteen hundred are employed here.

The American Woolen Co. plants, which normally employ about 14,000, have been giving part employment to about one-third, it was said. This does not mean that nearly 5000 have been working every week, however, because the aim has been to give one group of workers two or three days one week and another group the same amount of work the next week.

The Pacific mills, employing 7800 in normal times, are today giving work to about 6700, it was said.

All the mill men said they were taking care of all cases of want among their own employes, and that because of this the business depression has not been felt a great deal in the city.

After the meeting Mayor White said it was evident, from what the mill men had said, that there is less unemployment in the city than is generally thought.

The annual timber consumption in France is 100 board feet per capita, or one-third less than that in America.

MAY PUT A BAN ON "GAS" PUMPS

State Fire Marshal Asserts They Are Forbidden Under the Law

Saunders Says No Licenses for Use of Apparatus Have Been Granted

The complete banishment of gasoline tanks and other obstructions placed there for commercial purposes, from the streets of Lowell may result from a lengthy conference held in the office of Mayor Perry D. Thompson today. Present at the conference were State Fire Marshal George E. Neal, Fire Chief Edward F. Saunders, Fire and Water Commissioner John F. Salmon, Arthur J. Dorley, representing the Chalifoux Motor Car company, and the mayor.

The conference had under consideration the granting of permission to the Chalifoux Motor Car company to operate a gasoline pump on the sidewalk near its place of business at the corner of Shattuck and Market streets.

The pump was erected last summer. At the time the fire marshal granted a garage license to the owners, he made it a condition that the pump should not be used, and stated that if it were made use of the garage license would be revoked for violation of the conditions under which it was granted.

Says Others Are Doing It

Mr. Dorley, representing the Chalifoux company, asserted this morning that other concerns in Lowell are using sidewalk gasoline pumps, and that the practice is common all over the state. He asserted that he had recently purchased gasoline from two sidewalk pumps in this city, and that one of the owners had claimed that he had a license for using the pump.

Chief Saunders interjected the statement that no permits for the use of street pumps had been granted in this city.

Fire Marshal Neal said that the streets belonged to the public, and that the municipality had no right to sanction their use for commercial purposes. He cited a court decision that a street lunch cart is a highway obstruction, and that no permit granted by a city could be used to absolve the owners from prosecution

COTTON EXEMPT FROM TAXATION

(Special to The Sun.)

BOSTON, Jan. 13.—A bill providing that cotton and other raw materials held in any city or town in Massachusetts and intended for use in manufacturing establishments within the commonwealth shall be exempt from local taxation was filed in the house today by Rep. Andrew P. Doyle, of New Bedford.

Last year, for the first time, assessors in certain communities began levying taxes upon stored stocks of spot cotton and it is to prevent repetition of such assessments that the bill is now filed. It is to become effective on April 1 of this year. HOYT.

The PROSPERITY of a COMMUNITY depends upon the Strength of its Banks.

The STRENGTH of its Banks depends upon the Confidence of the Citizens of the Community.

HINT LENINE MAY BE DEAD

Reported Death of "The Communist Karpoff" in Moscow May Mean Premier

Karpoff Said To Be Old Pseudonym of Lenine, Soviet Leader

LONDON, Jan. 13.—A communication from Moscow announcing the death of M. Karpoff, member of the supreme economic council of soviet Russia, is quoted in a Berlin despatch to the Exchange Telegraph here, received by way of Paris today.

The supreme council in Moscow contains no person named Karpoff, which is an old pseudonym of Nikolai Lenine, the soviet premier. Some of his publications bear that name.

The Jewish News Bureau, a New York city news agency, on Jan. 9 announced receipt of a despatch from its Moscow correspondent, telling of the dangerous illness of Lenine. The despatch, received by way of Berlin, read:

"I have just learned authoritatively that Lenine has been taken dangerously ill. Three well known German specialists from Berlin were sent for and are now on their way to Moscow for consultation."

The news bureau added that its Berlin correspondent had attempted to obtain verification of the despatch from Victor Kopp, representative in Berlin of the soviet government but that the latter refused either to confirm or deny it.

Officials of the Russian soviet bureau in New York said today that M. Karpoff was unknown to them. They also declared that Premier Lenine, to their knowledge, was never known as M. Karpoff, nor had he written books under that name.

A Berlin despatch to the Havas Agency, received in New York today, said that the Russian newspaper Rul had announced the death of "The Communist Karpoff" in Moscow. The despatch added: "Karpoff seems to be the former pseudonym of Lenine."

STORK LEADS DOCTOR A MERRY CHASE

Five Births Within Few Doors of Each Other In Two Days—Not Yet Certain that Bird Has Gone South For Winter

SPENCER, Jan. 13.—The stork has been a busy bird in this town for the past day or two. Five births in five homes, all within a few doors of each other on Church street, is his record as attested by formal certificates filed today by Dr. Joseph Houle. "The stork led me a merry chase," said the doctor. "A girl on one side of the street followed a boy on the other side, then a girl was born in the same yard and a boy came in the next house. I was pretty weary by that time but the stork kept up his neighborly visitations and left behind another baby girl across the street. Fortunately I live on Church street myself."

The physician added that it was not yet certain that the stork had gone south for the winter.

SAYS PROHIBITIONISTS USE "WET" SHIPS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Amendment of the prohibition acts so as to permit American passenger liners plying in foreign trade to carry and sell liquor outside the three mile limit of the United States, was urged before house judiciary committee today by steamship officials who complained that because of present restrictions, foreign ships were handling the bulk of travel.

Representative Edmonds, republican, Pennsylvania, author of the amendment, declared that failure to amend the law would make it impossible for American ships to get anything except overflow travel.

"Don't prohibitionists travel?" asked Representative Igoe, democrat, Missouri.

"I understand they go on ships that are not dry because they want to enjoy the fun," Mr. Edmonds replied.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Leslie F. Gates, former president of the Chicago board of trade today told the house agriculture committee that enactment of the Capper-Tincher grain futures bill would paralyze the present grain marketing machinery without providing an adequate substitute.

CREW TAKEN OFF AS SHIP SINKS

Norwegian Steamer Ontaneda in Distress for Several Days Abandoned at Sea

Steamship Fanad Head Reaches Scene Just in Time to Rescue Crew

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—The Norwegian steamship Ontaneda has been abandoned at sea and her crew taken on board the steamship Fanad Head which left St. John, N. B., Jan. 6 for Dublin and Belfast. A wireless message from the Fanad Head relayed here by the steamship Imperator, reported the abandonment today.

When last seen the Ontaneda was standing on her beam end and rapidly sinking, the message said.

The Fanad Head went to the scene in response to repeated S.O.S. calls arriving just in time to effect the rescue of the men on board. The captain of the Ontaneda and six of his men were badly injured the captain having had several ribs broken when the ship was tossed about by a storm.

After the rescue the Fanad Head proceeded on her voyage.

REFUSES TO ABDICATE

King Constantine Not to Yield if Allies Refuse to Recognize His Rights

ATHENS, Jan. 12.—King Constantine will not abdicate the throne, even if the allied nations should refuse to recognize his rights as Greek sovereign, he declared here today.

"I will not abdicate," he asserted. "There is no reason to ignore my recall by the Greek people. Can anyone find any people of Greece who want me to go away? The French insist upon carrying out a campaign against me. But perhaps it is not so much against me as it is an excuse to get the treaty of Sevres revised and to force the Greeks out of Smyrna."

THE COLD WAVE BRINGS WORRY TO OFFICIALS

The man in the street, rubbing his stinging ears and the householder piling extra fuel in his furnace and trying to extract reluctant heat from camouflaged coal that had cost him $17.50 per, were not the only ones to whom the arrival of the cold wave this morning brought troubles. The wave swept canses for apprehension into the offices of two of the city's rulers and guardians.

Public Property Commissioner Geo. E. Marchand early cast an anxious weather eye at the thermometer. He had clearly in mind some of his experiences in dealing with frozen pipes during the frigid weather of last winter when even the steam-heating system of the Bartlett school froze-up and eleven radiators burst that have only lately been fully repaired. Mr. Marchand is hopeful that the fates will be kinder to him this season than last. He has nothing to do with keeping the school buildings warm, therefore, if there are any freeze-ups they cannot be charged to him. He is ready, however, to rush men to repair any damages that may be done if the cold gets in its destructive work on the pipes of the public buildings.

Fire and Water Commissioner John F. Salmon had a little cause for worry all his own. When the weather is very cold air seeps into the pipes of the driven wells. This destroys the vacuum that provides the suction for the pumps. The present air pumps are not sufficiently large to do their work without being pushed.

The commissioner says that the city needs new and larger pumping apparatus. As it hasn't it, he is hoping that the weather man will be kind to Lowell.

URBAN LEADS IN POPULATION

More Than Half Population of U. S. Now Living in Urban Territory

First Time in History of Country That Urban Territory Has Led Rural

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—For the first time in the country's history, more than half the population of the continental United States is living in urban territory. Persons living in cities and towns of more than 2500 when the 1920 census was taken numbered 54,315,032, the census bureau announced today, while those living in rural territory numbered 51,390,739.

The population of the cities and towns in 1920 showed a gain of 5.5 per cent. over that in 1910, and was 51.4 per cent. of the total population of the country. The proportion of urban population is larger than in 1910 in all but three states—Colorado, Montana and Wyoming—the largest increase being that for Michigan—from 47.2 in 1910 to 61.1 per cent. in 1920.

The urban and rural population of the New England states follows:

Connecticut, 936,339 and 414,292.
Maine, 299,569 and 468,445.
Massachusetts, 3,659,248 and 802,108.
New Hampshire, 279,761 and 163,322.
Rhode Island, 559,180 and 15,217.
Vermont, 109,976 and 212,452.

WADE SENTENCED TO BE HANGED

Was Convicted of Murdering George Nott at Bridgeport Last August

Sentenced Today To Be Put to Death Before Sunrise on May 20

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Jan. 13.—Elwood H. Wade, convicted of murdering George Nott in his home here last August, was sentenced today to be hanged before sunrise on May 20.

With his eyes fastened on the judge and his head erect, Wade listened to the words "hanged by the neck until dead," without the quiver of an eyelash.

"Thank you, sir," he said, picking up his hat and coat and walking to the stairway leading to the cells. As he left the room, he glanced over his shoulder, nodded to the guard, and descended the stairs with a smile.

State's Attorney Homer S. Cummings announced that the trials of Ethel Hutchins Nott and John Edward Johnston, both indicted on charges of first degree murder in connection with the killing of Nott, would be held next month.

Mrs. Mary S. Wade, wife of the condemned man, learned of the verdict as

MAYOR OF CORK AT WASHINGTON

O'Callaghan Testifying at Hearing Describes "Reign of Murder in Ireland"

Declares Life and Property Insecure — Deadlock in Controversy

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Donal O'Callaghan, lord mayor of Cork, who came to America as a stowaway without a passport and whose presence in the country has caused a controversy between the state and labor departments, today appeared before the commission of the committee of 100 investigating the Irish question and gave his story of conditions in his native land.

He declared that the killing of the late Lord Mayor MacCurtain of Cork and other Irish leaders in March, 1920, marked the beginning of "a reign of murder" in Ireland which had rendered life and property "entirely insecure."

He gave his age as 29 and told the commission that he had been elected lord mayor by the corporation council of Cork to fill out the unexpired term of the late Lord Mayor MacSwiney, who starved himself to death in Brixton prison, London.

The lord mayor said meetings of the corporation council at Cork were held surreptitiously to avoid raids by the British military and that as a result the city's business had suffered. He added, however, that all the people, regardless of political affiliation, paid taxes levied by the republican administration.

He said his home had been raided eight times and that he slept in a different place each night.

"There are two kinds of raids," he declared, "those by the murder gang and those by arresting parties."

He filed with the commission 30 affidavits describing raids and killings alleged to have been committed by the English military.

Wilson Keeps Hands Off

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—While the departments of state and labor continued at loggerheads over settlement of the question of his admissibility to this country, Lord Mayor O'Callaghan of Cork, who arrived at Newport News last week as a stowaway without a passport, was here today to consummate the announced purpose of his visit to America by appearing before the commission of the committee of 100 investigating conditions in Ireland.

Indications that President Wilson would leave to his cabinet officers the ironing out of the inter-departmental difficulties which have arisen were believed to have removed all possibility of any sudden development in the case that might result in the termination of the lord mayor's parole by Secretary of Labor Wilson.

Reference of the case by the state department to the department of justice was imminent today, officials of the former department having stated that such action would be taken to secure execution of its order for O'Callaghan's deportation, should Secretary Wilson continue his refusal to recognize state department jurisdiction in the case.

On appearing before the Irish commission today, Lord Mayor O'Callaghan was prepared to relate particularly the story of the burning of Cork and events leading up to it. Other witnesses to appear included Peter J. MacSwiney, brother of the late Lord Mayor MacSwiney, who was O'Callaghan's companion on the stowaway trip across the Atlantic, and Frank Dempsey, chairman of the urban council of Tuam, Ireland.

COUNTESS FELL 300 FEET TO HER DEATH

LONDON, Jan. 13—A woman visitor at Westminster Cathedral yesterday fell 300 feet from the Campanile (St. Edward's tower), and was killed.

She later was identified as the Portuguese Countess da Ribeira Grand, who had been missing from a Chelsea nursing home, where Count Grand also resides.

The top of the Campanile is protected by a stone wall four feet high, and a metal guard rail. This is the first accident since the tower was erected. In the summer time some 200 people ascend it daily.

The body was found on a small balcony below; every bone in the body was broken.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

By Theatres' Own Press Agents.

THE STRAND

A cripple and cynical woman-hater, trusting no one and loving no one, Osbert Gaunt, past 40 years on life's road, has become an embittered monomaniac with but one thought, and that to revenge himself on the woman who in his youth jilted him when she availed herself to marry wealth. The opportunity at last presents itself through this woman's young and handsome daughter. Misjudging and misunderstanding the girl, Gaunt eventually persuades her to marry him, and then plans to make her life miserable to pay for the suffering her mother's act caused him. Pretty Elaine Hammerstein is seen in the leading role and her splendid work as the "daughter who pays" makes the plot development logical and plausible. This splendid picture, "The Daughter Pays," is being shown daily for the remainder of the week at The Strand, and lovers of powerful dramatic effort, and emotional attainment should not miss it. It tells a strong story.

"Scratch My Back," one of Rupert Hughes' delightful comedy hits, which is the second feature on the program is a laugh-producer of the first water. It has more genuine humor in its lines and actions than one can possibly imagine. Helene Chadwick, called the handsomest girl in the world by General Nivelle, hero of Verdun, establishes in this picture her right to be called one of the most accomplished comediennes on the screen, and the others in the cast are equally as pleasing. The remainder of the bill is rounded out with the usual comedy and Weekly, as well as musical numbers by Miss Elsie Robbins. Don't fail to see it all.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

When you look for a good show this week, don't pass the entrance to the B. F. Keith theatre, where a bill of selected headliners holds forth, headed by none other than Ruth Roye, the queen of all syncopation singers. Miss Roye is noted all over this land wherever vaudeville is given, and at her opening here on Monday she quite eclipsed all previous efforts. However, this is not a one-person show, for Toto, the internationally famous clown, is placed on the bill, in his very carefully prepared act. And Polly & Oz, a youthful couple in a musical turn, are not without touches of real class. Other acts on the bill are as follows: Drew & Wallace, Thornton & Holland, Wright & Earl and Martin & Moore.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Film fans of this city are assured of one of the finest comedy treats in "The Rookies Return" which is the big feature for the last three days of the current week at the Merrimack Square theatre. Douglas MacLean and Doris May, two of the most popular funsters on the screen today, are the featured stars. "The Rookie's Return" is hailed as the companion picture to "23½ Hours Leave" which was greeted with such approval when it was shown here. The story deals with the trials of a doughboy who returns from France and finds it difficult to adjust himself to the exigencies of civilian life, especially when he comes into a fortune and has to deal with the servant problem. The love romance, which is strong coupled with the humor of the situations, makes this one of the most enjoyable comedies. "The Education of Elizabeth," featuring Billie Burke is the second big picture. A comedy, International News and Travel Pictures round out the bill.

RIALTO THEATRE

Two pictures that class the program with the best of the present season will be seen at the Rialto theatre this afternoon in the showing of E. K. Lincoln's strong story, "The Inner Voice," and the eastern story, "Pagan Love." Both are reputed as among the best novels and have deep well laid plots. "The Inner Voice" is presented upon a scale which has never been equalled and which in fact would have been considered absolutely impossible a few years ago. It is the story of a man who gave everything he had to the world and who received in return treachery, unfaithfulness and disgrace. It compares favorably with Hugo's "Les Miserables" or Thackeray's "Vanity Fair" and will find instant appeal with the hundreds who see it for the three remaining days of this week. "Pagan Love" is the characterization of a blind white girl who married an honorable Chinaman and who realized her mistake after she recovered her senses through an operation. It's a strong program for the week end and everybody should see it.

OPERA HOUSE

The elaborate staging and costuming of "The Love of Su Shong," the novelty play being presented with such marked cleverness and artistic finish by the Lowell Players at the Opera House, is only one of the many delightful features of the presentation. Director Bennett and the management have gone to considerable expense to secure the extensive settings and wardrobe, but nothing has been neglected and the result is most satisfying. Miss Fields as the lovable little Chinese girl, and Milton Byron as the young American, are exceedingly clever in parts that call for exceptional work, while the supporting cast is praiseworthy.

Next week's presentation will be Owen Davis' great play, "At 9.45," which scored such a pronounced success in New York recently.

BILL FOR STATE AID TO WAR VETERANS

(Special to The Sun)

BOSTON, Jan. 13.—The American Legion is to conduct an aggressive campaign this year for the enactment of a bill providing for state aid to war veterans who are anxious to establish homes of their own.

Yesterday, a bill based upon a petition of John P. Holland, who is legislative agent for the American Legion, was filed with the clerk of the house. It is almost identical with the measure which was filed in the senate last year by the then President Edwin T. McKnight, and which was rejected by the legislature.

It provides that any war veteran who was a citizen at the time of his enlistment or who has since formally indicated a desire for citizenship, shall upon proper application be provided with a dwelling house costing not more than $4000. Each applicant is required, under the terms of the bill, to make an initial deposit of 5 per cent of the value of the property, and to pay such monthly instalments as will complete the payments at the end of 25 years.

Provision is made that the state, at the discretion of proper officials, may grant the property outright to any veteran who becomes permanently disabled while occupying one of the state's houses.

Administration of the project, the bill provides, shall be in the hands of a soldiers and sailors homestead commission, to be appointed by the governor.

Before the meeting adjourned the selectmen were requested to confer with the Lowell Electric Light Corporation for figures to be presented at the town meeting, relating to electrically lighting the town with special attention to the highway to the Wilmington line.

COAL MEN HAVE CORNER ON FIRES

An alarm from box 219 shortly after 6 o'clock last evening was for a fire in the office of the Thorndike Coal Co. in Thorndike street. The fire started in the boiler room of the building and worked its way to the rear of the office via the partitions and gave the firemen considerable trouble. The damage was not great. This building was damaged by fire recently and from the same source, the boiler room, the firemen stated.

At 9.45 o'clock last evening there was an alarm from box 44 for a small blaze in the yard of the Horne Coal company at the corner of Hale and Howard streets. The fire was started by a spark from a locomotive. No damage.

MEMBERSHIP DRIVE

For the American Association For the Recognition of the Irish Republic—Two Meetings

Two large and enthusiastic meetings of the A.R.I.R. were held last evening. The George Washington branch met in the Sacred Heart school hall, Moore street.

The meeting was arranged for the purpose of furthering interest in the membership drive and all reports indicated that this branch promises to be one of the largest in the city. At the present time there are 609 members enrolled.

Rev. John P. Flynn, O.M.I., pastor, was chairman of the meeting and he congratulated the committees for the effective work they have accomplished in increasing the size of the organization. Mr. Michael J. Sharkey and Mr. W. E. Reilly of the Lowell Normal school were the other speakers.

Excellent musical numbers were rendered by Mr. Martin H. Maguire, the popular tenor, and Miss Maurine Quinn, a talented soprano. Mr. Albert Forrest was the accompanist of the evening.

The second meeting, held in Hibernian hall, Middle street, was presided over by John Barrett, president of the Lowell council of the association.

Routine business was at first carried out and then Stephen Flynn, chairman of the Lowell membership drive committee, took charge of the meeting and urged all to do their utmost to put the city over the top during the remaining few days of the drive. He intimated that all the districts are competing for the highest honors and so are keeping their membership rolls secret until the final day.

BAD BREATH

Dr Edwards' Olive Tablets Get at the Cause and Remove It

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets the substitute for calomel, act gently on the bowels and positively do the work.

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

All the benefits of nasty, sickening, griping cathartics are derived from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets without griping, pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil you will know them by their olive color. Take one or two every night for a week and note the effect. 15c and 30c

Y.M.C.A. FORUM MEETING

At a meeting of the Y.M.C.A. Forum last night Benjamin Fouzzner, formerly of Community Service, Inc., said that the only way that international problems could be settled without fighting was through the League of Nations. "From a practical point of view," he said, "the United States must enter the League of Nations. So long as one nation has the right to take another to task over something that nation resents, so long will war and bloodshed continue," said Mr. Fouzner. He also treated the Monroe Doctrine and its status under the League of Nations, saying that it is safeguarded rather than threatened.

BISHOP COHALAN DENIES GERMAN-IRISH PLOT

LONDON, Jan. 13.—Reports that Count von Bernstorff had interceded in support of the appointment of the Most Rev. Daniel Cohalan as bishop of Cork in 1916, which were in circulation during the fall of 1917 and were reproduced in the "White Paper" relative to German-Irish activities, issued last Saturday by the British government, are denied by Bishop Cohalan.

The bishop has written a letter to the Times stating that he heard the report in 1917 and wrote to Pope Benedict regarding it. He gives the text of the reply from the vatican, dated Nov. 29, 1917, which reads:

"The holy father, who surrounds you with his benevolence, charges me to reassure you and to persuade you to disregard all such press statements as wholly unfounded."

The letter was signed by Cardinal Gasparri, papal secretary of state.

WHAT WORRIED YEGG

CHICAGO, Jan. 13—"If I passed up a dark house at night without robbing it I'd worry so I couldn't sleep." That's what Worthey McGrath, 20, said. He confessed to 200 burglaries with $50,000 loot.

DON'T SQUEEZE BLACKHEADS—DISSOLVE THEM

Squeezing and pinching out blackheads make the pores large and cause irritation—then, too, after they have become hard you cannot get all of them out. Blackheads are caused by accumulations of dust and dirt and secretions from the skin, and there is only one safe and sure way and one that never fails to get rid of them—a simple way, too—that is to dissolve them. Just get from any drug store about two ounces of calonite powder—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet sponge—rub over the blackheads briskly for a few seconds—wash off and you'll be surprised to see that every blackhead has disappeared, and the skin will be left soft and the pores in their natural condition—anyone troubled with these unsightly blemishes should try this simple method.—Adv.

GENERAL STRIKE NEAR

Tension Over Economic and Political Situation in Austria Increasing

VIENNA, Jan. 12.—Tension over the existing economic and political situation in the Austrian republic seems to be increasing.

Doors of the big hotels in Vienna are shuttered at dusk because of communist demonstrations against them as symbols of profiteering.

Postal employes have announced they have called a strike, the socialist element demanding that these workers be organized as union labor. The conservatives refused to say whether they will declare a strike against the strike of their co-workers.

Mail collections ceased tonight and telephone and telegraph service will be suspended tomorrow if matters are not settled before that time. It is believed, however, that an adjustment is improbable and that a general strike will be called. Workmen demand that the deduction of the income tax from their pay envelopes cease, until the capital levy law enacted by the national assembly is enforced. They declare they will continue their strike until profiteering is checked.

The government today drafted drastic regulations against profiteering providing for heavy penalties for violations of the law. Notable among the laws which have been allowed to become dead letters is one which ordered that tags showing the fixed price of articles of luxury have not been affixed to these goods. At present articles not under government control are offered at fabulous prices.

The government has conceded new salary increases totalling more than four billion kroner annually, and has announced 100 per cent increases on the postage and freight rates to be charged for tobacco, salt and alcohol.

Officials in foreign circles who have come in close contact with the situation, assert Austria is approaching a climax of some sort and the general uneasiness was increased by a report printed here today that former Emperor Charles was already on his way from Switzerland to Hungary.

Thirty per cent of the men between 18 and 60 show evidences of approaching organic disease, or already have it, says a noted physician.

The average American white man lives 60 years, and the average woman 64, according to insurance figures.

FOR REGULATION OF HIGHWAY TRAFFIC

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Endorsement by 19 national organizations of a comprehensive code of principles for regulation of highway traffic was announced today at the conclusion of a conference called to consider greater uniformity in state and municipal traffic laws.

The conference commended regulations prohibiting issuance of license for operation of motor vehicles to any person under 16 years of age, and set the minimum age for a chauffeur's license at 18 years. The conference agreed that motor vehicles licensed in one state should be permitted to operate in another state without license there under for three months.

Heavy penalties were recommended for such offenses as operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor, reckless driving, and for the theft of motor vehicles.

Organizations endorsing the principles included the American Automobile Association, Federal highway council, International Association of Chiefs of Police, and National Safety Council.

PETITIONS FILED BY SENATOR PEARSON

(Special to The Sun)

STATE HOUSE, Boston, Jan. 13.—Senator Gardner W. Pearson filed in the senate today a petition of City Treas. Fred H. Rourke, asking for legislation to provide that trust funds of the city of Lowell may be deposited in co-operative banks.

The senator also filed, upon his own petition, a new resolve providing for an investigation by the department of public utilities relative to the comparative cost of furnishing street transportation by different methods. The full text of the resolve follows:

"Resolved, that the department of public utilities be directed to investigate the comparative safety and cost of service to responsible common carriers in carrying passengers on highways by electric railway or automobile. Said department shall report to the general court on or before June first, nineteen hundred and twenty-one, the comparative cost of service and safety to passengers and others under equal conditions of speed and time schedules in large vehicles operated by two men, and small vehicles operated by one man, on highways in thickly and thickly settled districts. Said report shall also include a brief summary of the effect in blocking and delaying traffic in congested districts by the use of relatively small self-propelled vehicles (carrying 15 passengers each) not confined to rails and capable of making detours as compared with the use of relatively large self-propelled vehicles (carrying 35 or more passengers each) confined to rails and an opinion on what seems to be the time necessary to receive and discharge passengers for each such type of vehicle. Such report shall further include a brief comparative statement of the use of vehicles running on rails and those not running on rails as common passenger carriers in London, Paris and Berlin in nineteen hundred and thirteen. HOYT.

APPEAL FOR FUNDS BY LOWELL GUILD

The Lowell Guild is making an appeal to the public for funds to carry on its work during the coming year. It is the desire of the officers of the organization to give as widespread an opportunity as possible to the people of the city to share in the interesting work of the guild, carrying it economically and satisfactorily for years. An appeal has recently been issued by the guild, which says:

"A nursing staff at the call of any Lowell resident—caring for all but acute medical cases—is a vital factor in preserving Lowell's health. It is strictly a Lowell service to relieve suffering, fight disease and banish babies enemies. The guild starts the baby, the citizen of tomorrow, on the road to health, spreads the gospel of hygienic knowledge to the mothers of the race, and brightens the lives of the other half of the world.' The guild bathes and dresses the new-born infant, gives after care in maternity cases, cares for surgical cases, calls on prospective mothers, visits chronic invalids, points the way to material aid, cares for the aged and infirm and is ever ready for any call.

"Any resident of Lowell, rich or poor, may get this service by simply calling 2121, or sending a messenger to 17 Dutton street. Those who can, pay 75 cents and upward per visit. Those who cannot afford it pay less, or nothing.

"In the effort to reduce the large infant death rate the guild holds three conferences each week for baby welfare work, at which practical demonstrations are given the mothers of the manner of preparing food and the care of infants. The nurses then visit the homes of the sick babies to make sure that instructions are carried out.

"In the summer time four conferences, free to all, are held each week, one at the Eliot school, one at the Greenhalge school, and two at the guild rooms.

"The demands on the guild are constantly increasing, making necessary a larger budget to carry on its activities, but we feel sure that, as in the past, the people of Lowell will respond generously for the support of this most necessary work. Please make your checks payable to Athel M. Murkland, assistant treasurer, 17 Dutton street."

NERVOUS, IRRITABLE, AILING WOMEN

Mrs. Britten Tells How She Was Restored To Health After Suffering for More Than A Year.

Another Triumph for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Dimondale, Mich.—"I had inflammation and a displacement and weakness, and it had been neglected so long that it caused great pain, and this affected my mind and nerves so that I was very irritable. I had severe pains every month, so that I was often obliged to lie in bed for two days at a time. I suffered for more than a year before my friends said, 'Why don't you try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?' So I purchased one bottle after another until I had taken ten bottles, then Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. I received so much benefit from this treatment that I am now able to do my own work."—Mrs. W. D. BRITTEN, R. No. 2, Dimondale, Mich.

Another Michigan Woman says:

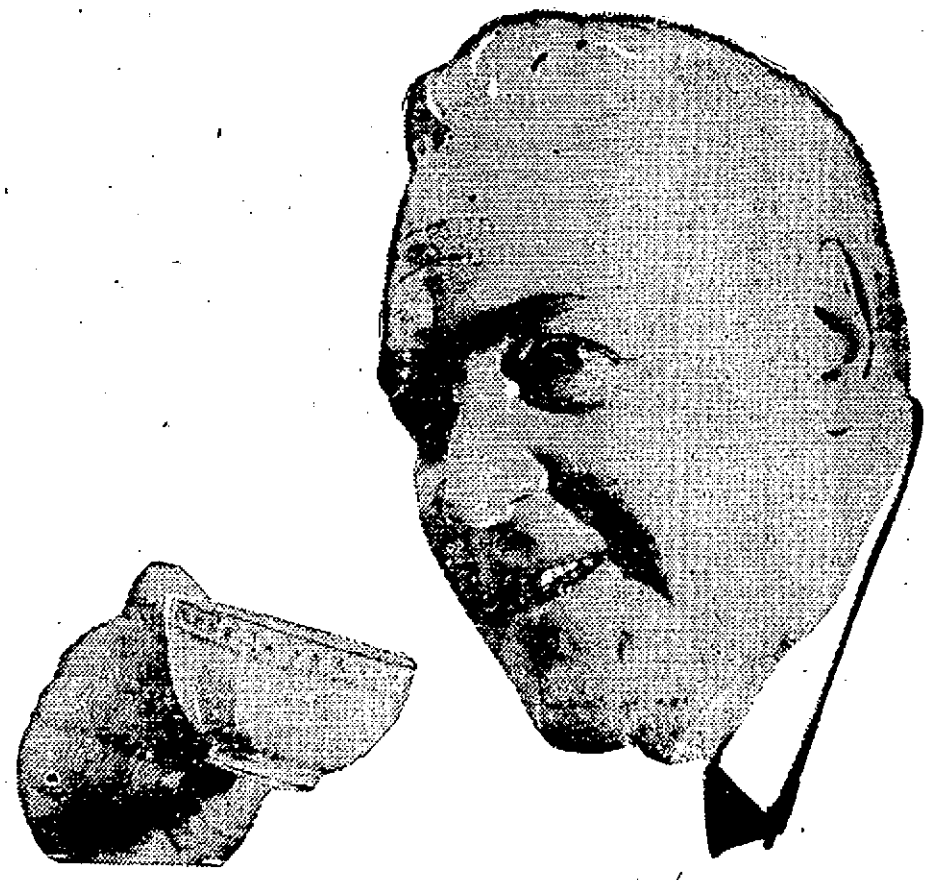

"I was bothered for a long time with female troubles and was so nervous I felt almost afraid at times. I also had a pain in my right side and was certainly in a bad way. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has relieved me of these nervous feelings and pains and I am much better in every way. I don't know just how many bottles I have taken, but I took it for nearly a year and it has done me a world of good."—Mrs. JESSIE GRANGER, R. No. 8, Box 51, Kalamazoo, Michigan.

Good health is a woman's greatest asset. With it she may be the inspiration of her husband, a happy mother, and the life of the home. Without it she suffers agonies herself, household duties are a burden, and her family is made miserable by her condition.

Is it any wonder that these women were nervous and irritable after suffering so long from such deranged conditions? Such ailments act directly upon the nerves, and it has been said that a large percentage of nervous prostration, nervous despondency, "the blues," and nervous irritabilty of women arise from some derangement of the female organism.

If women who are in this condition would only profit by the experience of others and take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once, much suffering and unhappiness would be averted, as everyone knows a nervous, irritable, ailing mother makes the home unhappy and her condition irritates both husband and children.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women" will be sent to you free upon request. Write to The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Massachusetts. This book contains valuable information.

Do You Get Coffee-joy Like This?

You can! Have you ever tried La Touraine, "The Coffee of Good Taste"? If not, there's a coffee tang and aroma—an appetizing richness of flavor waiting for you that is so good it stands by itself. Those who have once known this real coffee-taste are never contented with less.

Millions know it

Millions enjoy the supreme pleasure of La Touraine. Many who would pay any price for coffee, prefer La Touraine because it has a flavor that can be had in no other coffee.

Different* from other coffee

Users of La Touraine declare that it is "different" from any other coffee because it's so rich, so full of coffee-goodness. But La Touraine is just coffee—honest coffee produced with all the skill and care that can be lavished on coffee by life-long coffee experts, because all La Touraine conforms to the famous La Touraine Formula.

What is the La Touraine Formula?

The La Touraine Formula is a coffee ideal—the guiding principle of this famous Boston coffee house. Under it the finest coffees are chosen from the world's great markets. These coffees, selected by type and kind, are carefully examined for perfection of bean. They are then blended scientifically to bring out the delicious properties of each, and roasted by experienced roast-masters to just the fine shade and aroma that "cooks them to a turn." The La Touraine Formula is the secret of "The Coffee of Good Taste."

Insist on the La Touraine Package

Do not accept La Touraine unless it is in the La Touraine package. Buy it in the package marked "bean" and have your grocer grind it fresh for you. You will then get the utmost flavor in your cup.

PEACE IN BASEBALL

All Factions Bury Hatchet and Major and Minor Leagues Sign Agreement

CHICAGO, Jan. 13.—Organized baseball yesterday swept the last vestige of disagreement from its ranks in a series of conferences which brought signed peace agreements not only between the major and minor leagues but between individual club owners who have vigorously opposed each other in affairs of administration and policy.

The two major leagues signed the new national agreement making Judge Kenesaw M. Landis baseball commissioner with supreme powers and the minor leagues also signed an agreement with Judge Landis as their ruler, but it differed in one empowering word from that signed by the majors.

This difference, it developed was due to a misunderstanding in the joint meeting of drafting committees Tuesday when the agreement was drawn up, and it was announced that the minors later would sign an agreement identical with the one approved by the major organizations.

Besides signing the national agreement, the individual major league club owners affixed their signatures to a contract in which they agreed not to criticise publicly each other or talk about one another and to accept any decision made by Judge Landis regardless of their personal opinion of it.

Included in the signatories to this agreement were President B. B. Johnson of the American league and two of the three club owners who have fought his administration, Charles A. Comiskey of Chicago and Jacob Ruppert of New York. Harry Frazee of Boston, the third, announced that he would sign. He was not present when it was drawn up.

The signing of the new national agreement brought a sharp statement from Judge Landis concerning the powers he must have and led to erroneous reports that he had issued an ultimatum giving the club owners 15 minutes in which to make changes he demanded. The judge did not set a time limit but did tell the club owners that his powers must be supreme.

When the copy of the new national agreement was brought before the league representatives, it contained a section saying that the commissioner after investigating any affair he considered detrimental to baseball, could "recommend such action as he deemed advisable."

Judge Landis interrupted the reading of the document to say that this must be made to read "take such action."

"You have told the world that my powers are to be supreme," he said. "To give me the power merely to 'recommend' takes all power out of my hands. I will retire from the room, gentlemen, and you can discuss this matter. But I want you to know that either I must have power to take such action as I wish or else you had better seek a new commissioner. I would not take this job for all the gold in the world unless I know my hands were to be free."

On motion of President Johnson, the major leaguers voted to substitute the word "take" for "recommend," but it was found that the minors were not in official session and that the matter would have to go through their drafting committee again.

Representatives of minor leagues in a standing vote assured the judge that they had considered "recommend" the same as "take" in that they were bound to abide by his decisions, but that as soon as the agreement could be formally taken up again the word would be changed and they would sign.

Last night the major leagues signed the contract with Judge Landis making him commissioner for seven years at $50,000 a year. The national agreement will remain in effect so long as Judge Landis is commissioner.

Judge Landis, however, has stipulated that his salary of $7500 a year as judge should be deducted from his baseball salary, so he actually will get only $42,500 a year from baseball.

The new agreement also provides for restoration of the draft with prices scaled down from $5000 for class I AA leagues to $1000 for class D. The American association and the new International leagues remained out of the draft while the Pacific coast league and other class AA organizations went in.

New players' contracts covering what the club owners termed the "ethics" of the game were approved by the majors.

One clause in the new form of contract provides that the player pledges loyalty to his club and "pledges himself to the American public to conform to high standards of fair play and good sportsmanship." The player also promises to abide by all decisions of the commissioner, and to keep himself in good physical condition throughout the season.

Plan Early Prosecutions

CHICAGO, Jan. 12.—With the various league and inter-league disagreements settled at yesterday's baseball meeting, the club owners, Judge Landis, baseball commissioner, and the state attorney's office last night began formulation of plans which it was expected would result in an early trial of the men indicted for conspiracy in the throwing of games in the 1919 world series and which it was hoped would stamp out gambling and game throwing in baseball.

George Gorman, assistant state's attorney, who has been placed in charge of the baseball case, announced that the indicted men would be arraigned about Feb. 2 and that an immediate trial would be held so that the case could be disposed of before the playing season opened.

The American league appropriated $10,000 to be used in the prosecution of the men and Judge Landis issued a statement saying that even if the men were found not guilty they would not necessarily be allowed to return to organized baseball.

"Whether the accused men are found guilty or innocent, the trial will result in the stamping out of gambling," said Judge Landis, "for suitable action will be taken against any men who have not acted justly in fulfilling their contracts."

NOT TO JOIN NEW NATIONAL ASSOCIATION

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—The New York state boxing commission and license committee yesterday declined to become a member of the newly formed National Boxing association of the United States, which has been in session here for the last three days. The decision of the commission was made public by Chairman Johnson, who attended the sessions as the representative of New York, after the afternoon meeting.

"It is our decision," the statement given out by Chairman Johnson reads, "that we cannot subordinate our functions and authority, clearly defined in the Walker law, to the jurisdiction of an outside unofficial body of any character.

The Massachusetts state boxing commission, in a letter sent to the New York commission, announcing that it would not be represented at the national convention, has taken the same position.

POLO NOTES

The rejuvenated Lowell Polo club will play its first home game tomorrow night with Bridgeport as opponents.

Mallory, who has been secured to play goal in place of Lovegreen, did not report at Worcester last night, but will be on hand here tomorrow night, Captain Hardy announced today.

Ferdie Harkins, who will be in there working for Lowell tomorrow night, will undoubtedly receive a very cordial greeting from the fans. The followers of the game here appreciate what he has done for Lowell in former seasons, and all realize that his return to the local lineup will mean a vast improvement in team play. Harkins plays and teaches team work, and never enjoys being a member of a team where individualism takes precedence over combination endeavor. He will do the floor work for Lowell, and a man to handle this important part of the game has been needed on the local team. Hary has few superiors as a defensive player but, owing to inferior work on the rush line, he found it necessary to do much offensive work, going up the floor many times in an endeavor to score goals. But with Harkins in the lineup, Hardy will give more attention to blocking, and consequently both departments should show a pronounced change for the better.

If "Bob" Hart continues to hammer them in at his present rate he will soon be having it out with Duggan and Kid Williams for the top position in the scoring column.

HONOR B. C. CHAMPIONS

Gov. Cox, Mayors of Boston and Newton and Judge Extol Gridiron Heroes

BOSTON, Jan. 13.—The Boston college football eleven, victors in every game they played last fall, were hailed as the champions of the east last night by Gov. Cox, the mayors of Boston and Newton and Judge E. C. Bonniwell of Philadelphia, president of the Veterans' Athletes association. This organization by vote has declared the team the title holders of 1920, and on Jan. 25 will formally present a trophy to mark the distinction. Judge Bonniwell announced that the Boston eleven gained the award because it defeated all comers.

His statement was translated into a slogan by Major Frank Cavanaugh, coach of the team, who said that in coming years the public would demand that all college teams follow it. The coach's statement followed a reference to Yale's refusal to meet Boston college again after two successive defeats and to what he said was a tendency of the times among the larger colleges of the country to gloat over defeats of smaller teams, sidestep them if they become too strong and call it sport to concentrate everything of effort in one game a season.

Jack Heaphy, crack young centre of the past two Boston college elevens, was elected captain for next fall last night.

JOHN H. FARRELL AS SECRETARY TO LANDIS

CHICAGO, Jan. 13.—John H. Farrell of Auburn, N. Y., for 20 years secretary of the National Association of Minor Leagues, is slated to become secretary to Judge Landis, commissioner of organized baseball, it became known today. Farrell has received a tentative offer, but the question of salary and the term of office has not been considered. It is known, however, that he will decline unless the term is for seven years or more. Farrell receives a salary of $7500 a year as secretary of the minor leagues.

Organized baseball entered a new era today, governed by new agreements and administered by Judge Landis as dictator. Revised agreements governing league and players relations were approved by both major and minor clubs yesterday and the appointment of Judge Landis was ratified.

The first meeting of Judge Landis with the new baseball advisory board was held today. The board consists of M. H. Sexton of Rock Island, Ill., and Mr. Farrell, representing the minor leagues.

Subjects discussed at the meeting included: Rules to promote co-operation and understanding in carrying out the provisions of the new agreements; procedure for settling differences between the majors and minors; plans for hearing disputes between leagues of the same classification in the minors or between the teams of one league.

The assessment for the government of baseball has been raised and the rule awarding the four world's series umpires a flat $1000 each has been replaced by one which stipulates that the four shall divide a sum equal to one losing and one winning player's share.

PLAN TO HOLD REAL COUNTY FAIR

Lowell will have a real county fair with all the fixin's, including horse racing, if plans that were formulated and given a push toward realization at a meeting Tuesday of the Lowell Driving club and Agricultural society are carried out. It is planned to have the fair held in Golden Cove park next September.

The club voted to continue its membership in the National Trotting association. The recent death of Charles J. Morse, an active worker in the club, was commemorated in a series of resolutions that were adopted. It was voted to hold the annual banquet of the club early in February.

The following named officers were unanimously re-elected: President, I. E. Wetton; vice president, A. B. Humphrey; treasurer, Thomas H. Braden; secretary, Arnold Ryan; directors, D. Belleville, M. R. Bradford and L. C. Clark.

9 4-5 SECONDS AS 100 YARDS RECORD

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—The Intercollegiate Association of Amateur Athletes has accepted as a recognized intercollegiate record, the time of 9 4-5 seconds for the 100 yard dash, made by Morris M. Kirksey in a dual meet between Leland Stanford, Jr., university and Oregon Agricultural college, last May. This was announced today by Thomas Fitzgibbons of Columbia, secretary of the association.

WEAK NERVES DUE TO SICK GLANDS

Many "Nervous Wrecks" Taking Animal Gland Treatment With Splendid Results

Recent scientific discoveries will be of particular interest to the thousands of people suffering from nervous diseases. It has been found that our nervous systems are largely under the control of our ductless glands. When our glands are healthy our nerves are calm and strong. But when our glands become run-down our nerves quickly give away and we soon suffer a nervous breakdown.

The old way of treating nervous complaints was to drug the nerves. In other words it attacked only the symptoms. But now we go to the cause—we build up our run-down ductless glands. And this, it has been found, can be accomplished by feeding them with extracts from the glands of sheep and cattle.

This new method is embodied in a remarkably effective preparation called Glandex Compound, which contains these extracts, also iron and other health builders in tablet form. Many physicians are prescribing this new treatment for their patients, and the results as they report them are truly remarkable. Men and women who for years suffered with various nervous diseases experience decided relief in an amazingly short time.

Neurasthenia, however, is not the only ailment for which Glandex Compound can be effectively used. Thousands are taking it for anaemia, old age and its attendant weaknesses, lack of energy and general run-down conditions.

Glandex Compound may be obtained at all druggists and is sold under a money-back guarantee. If it fails to bring entirely satisfactory results in a very few days its purchase price will be refunded. The Glandex Company, Inc., 244 West 29th St., New York City.

Says Greek Offensive a Failure

LONDON, Jan. 13.—Assertion that the Greek offensive in the direction of Brussia, Asia Minor, has failed, is contained in a Rome despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Co., under yesterday's date. The situation as Smyrna is serious, it is declared, and it is probable that the new Greek commander-in-chief will be recalled.

MERRIMACK MILL BOWLERS

The Machinists of the Merrimack Manufacturing Company Bowling league have held the lead since the start of the season, but the Spinners are slowly creeping up and are in high second place. The standing and the individual averages of the league are as follows:

NOTES

Captain O'Dea of the Machine shop team claims that the pins were bum-bed when the Spinners won three out of four points from his team.

The Machine shop won the first string and everything was O.K., but when it lost the second and third strings all that could be heard was that the pins were bumbed, according to the Spinners. Why not be good losers? The Spinners are not in the bid, but—

Roberge and Fullerton are starting to hit their stride. Fullerton at one time was one of the best bowlers in the city.

Atkinson of the machine shop is the best loser on the team. Good luck, Emil!

Hundreds of Lowell Men Were On Hunger Strike

Had Refused to Eat Fearing Torture of Stomach Trouble That Usually Follows

A Brighter Life Now Looms Up Before Them After Taking the Splendid Toxo Treatment

It was found that hundreds of Lowell men were actually starving themselves rather than eat and suffer the consequences that followed. Their stomachs were so clogged up with waste matter and in such a poor condition that no matter what kind of food they took near the suffering became unbearable.

Since the wonderful stomach treatment, Toxo, has arrived in Lowell, these same men are improving remarkably and are finding the joy in life that they had heretofore been missing. They have tried the Toxo treatment with huge success. Their appetite has grown and they can now eat most anything without a thought as to whether their stomach will stand it or not.

You will meet these men most anywhere in Lowell. Ask them about this remarkable treatment. If you are bothered with stomach ills, you will find the remedy at Dows' Drug Stores, on Merrimack street. Just ask for Toxo, the treatment for constipation, indigestion and other stomach ills.—Adv.

AUSTRIA DONE TO DEATH

Austria has officially notified the entente that she can no longer continue her government, being left entirely without the resources necessary to sustain a people.

Ever since the decrees of the peace conference took effect, what was left of Austria was in a most pitiable condition.

Why should Austria be any worse than the other nations? may be asked. Ah! there is a very logical reason why Austria has come to the point at which she has to abandon her government and in order to save even a remnant of her people, throw herself upon the tender mercies of the reparation commission.

The main cause of the present distress was the severance of Vienna from the territory of which it was the industrial and commercial, as well as the political centre.

That severance was decreed by Lloyd George, President Wilson and Clemenceau of France, with a lot of empty talk as to their regard for the ethnographic unity and relationship of the racial elements involved. President Wilson was made the tool of carrying through some of the worst national tragedies ever enacted in the history of the world; and it would be difficult to find one so palpably outrageous as that of Austria. If those three officials had sat down and exerted their combined ingenuity in devising a plan by which to extinguish the Austrian nation, they could not have adopted a scheme more fatal or more terrible. Already scores of thousands have died of cold and starvation in Vienna and practically all of those who survive are so undernourished that they are mere skeletons.

Mr. A. G. Gardner, the well known writer of the London Daily News, after a visit to Vienna, said:

"Although pity is the first emotion awakened, it is a fierce tide of anger that ultimately takes possession of the mind for this terrific crime in the heart of Europe is not the work of war but of peace, not of men blinded by the savageries of orgnized war, but of men sitting securely around a table in Paris deliberately assassinating a nation and plunging the whole of Central Europe into a wreckage unlike anything which the infamies of men have perpetrated in the past. If Vienna had been blotted out from above or swallowed up from beneath, it would have been a more merciful fate than the mutilated life and lingering death to which the peace criminals of Paris have doomed it."

That language was used when Mr. Gardner visited Vienna last October and in view of recent facts and the state of despair in which Vienna is found at the present time, his words were not only true but prophetic. In her past history Austria was one of the pillars of European civilization, memorable as the rock against which the Saracen invasion that had threatened to engulf Europe, was broken and hurled back. It was the capital of one of the leading empires of Europe and the pivot of a vast, economic and industrial system.

"Today," says J. L. Elliott, writing in the Survey, "this great city lies a decapitated head which has been struck from the body, its members having been hacked away and strewn to the four winds. The political dismemberment of Austria might have been justified, but the economic dismemberment with its bitter consequences in the lives of humble folks, was as gratuitous as it is deadly. Vienna was the financial and administrative centre of 50,000,000 of people; but now it is cut off from its coal supplies and food supplies, from its factories, from everything that means existence; it is enveloped by tariff walls. The manufacturer cannot go to a spinning mill without a passport."

That is surely a pitiable story. The city of Vienna was left a coal-mine, but it was in Teschen over which the Poles and Czechs fought for its possession without interference by the entente. Meantime Vienna was coalless. Jugo-Slavia, another fragment of this dismembered wreck, wants agricultural machinery. It cannot have it, because the coal is in one section of the old empire, the factories in another, and the untilled land in a third. Thus the empire has been partitioned into rival factors which have set up tariff barriers based mainly upon self-preservation and in which Vienna is the chief sufferer. Each helps to starve the other, while to some extent starving itself; but it is Vienna, the heart of the economic system, that has been doomed to cruel starvation and lingering death. It is as if blockaded by a strong fleet and deprived of all the things necessary to the existence of a city or a people.

The tragedy of Vienna and Austria is one of the saddest in all history. It may be said that it was Austria that caused the war. True, but she was but a secondary factor in the war and there was no justification for this form of exterminating a whole capital. Over half the population of Vienna is dead and unless relief comes, those remaining will die by the thousand daily this winter. This is the work of the "big four" who sat about the peace table at Paris and assassinated nations in the name of peace and civilization.

HARDING'S INAUGURATION

The decision of President-elect Harding to cut out the expensive ceremonial in connection with the inauguration ceremonies at Washington on March 4th next will be generally approved throughout the country, but not in the capital. Ever since the days of Lincoln, the inauguration of a president has been regarded in certain quarters as a sort of political circus which offered an opportunity to the Washington hotels to reap a rich harvest in exorbitant charges and that brought political aspirants for office and a motley assortment of time servers from all parts of the country, ostensibly to honor the new president, but in reality to advance their own political schemes.

The railroads, too, were in the combination to crowd the capital with visitors during the inaugural week, for of course, those who came from a distance were not likely to turn their faces homeward immediately after the inaugural ceremonies. No, they wanted to see the city of Washington and all its historic places and they could not do so in less than a week and so their excursion tickets permitted a stay of a week at least. Thus the custom grew until it became almost a national fixture, and one on which many a second or third rate hotel made almost as much in a week as in the remainder of the year.

It is not surprising, therefore, that from Washington is heard a general howl over the decision to conduct the exercises with the utmost simplicity and freedom from display. The great parade and the inauguration ball in which Washington society had an opportunity to shine have been eliminated and as for the expenses, it is understood that the plan is to keep as close of possible to the limit of ten dollars laid down by Senator Borah. The lamentations and protests in Washington will be as loud and as bitter as might be expected from the farmers of the northwest if some sudden visitation destroyed half their harvests of golden wheat. It is now apparently decided that Mr. Harding will take the oath of office on the steps of the capitol, where all who wish can see free of charge—in the good, old democratic style. It is safe to say in view of the circumstances, that the Hardings will not be readily forgiven in Washington for this departure in favor of practical economy and a proper regard for the fitness of things at a time when business depression is brooding all over the nation.

CARNEGIE AND THE KAISER

Andrew Carnegie's widow has published the great ironmaster's autobiography, written during Carnegie's "playtime in Scotland." The volume isn't as valuable as it might have been had more space been given to subjects like forges, blast furnaces, and processes for transforming iron ore into steel, and less to men and topics foreign to the steel industry.

Writing of the former kaiser of Germany, Carnegie set down: "He is, I believe, an earnest man, anxious for peace and progress of the world. * * * he is, and always has been, for peace."

Andy Carnegie never could have been so mistaken in his size-up of a steel executive or mill hand. But in steel he knew of what he was talking. That makes a large difference. Further he said:

"I have for some time been haunted (1907) with the feeling that the emperor (now Wilhelm Hohenzollern) was indeed a Man of Destiny. I have great hopes of him in the future doing something really great and good. * * * Whether he is to pass into history as only the preserver of internal peace at home, or to rise to his appointed mission as the Apostle of Peace among leading civilized nations, the future has still to reveal."

There never would have been the Carnegie multimillions, and probably never the great steel corporation, if Andrew Carnegie had chosen his Coreys, Schwabs and Farrels with as poor judgment as he picked his "Man of Destiny" and "Apostle of Peace."

Yet it may be said that the German emperor, whether dissembling or not, appeared to be all that Carnegie said of him at that particular time. The emperor had a knack of concealing his character from strangers and to Americans he usually put on an air of apostleship in everything good. In this way he deceived a great many who presumed to be better judges of public men and rulers than was Mr. Carnegie.

It would relieve the tension somewhat if the versatile newspaper correspondents, having named about every available spot around the capitol as the place where Harding is to be inaugurated, would get together and arrange to make their stories a little more consistently alike.

Our newspaper neighbor says that "faith which can move mountains oozed away from us several years ago after one or two experiments in municipal reform." What a gelatinous kind of faith it must have been to have "oozed."

The dime novel was once considered one of the principal causes of juvenile delinquency, but even the worst of them might be looked upon as Sunday-school homilies teaching good conduct, compared with some of the modern movie films.

Horace Greeley's famous dictum that "All democrats are not horse thieves but all horse thieves are democrats," might be paraphrased to read, "All who oppose the proposed new city charter are not municipal employes, but all city employes are opposed to it."

Fuel Administrator Hultman's efforts to reduce the price of coal would be more encouraging if it did not seem as though in the past they had been confined largely to using up space in the newspapers.

Since the good book tells us that it is wicked to call a fellow man a "fool," no suitable word seems available to describe the pessimist who insists on making "business depression" much worse than it really is.

Withholding the News

This police chatter about withholding news in order that the ends of justice may not be defeated is all tommy-rot. There are lots of crimes committed throughout the city, that nothing is said about and that something should be said about. If house thieves, for instance, are active the people should know it so as to guard against them. But the policy of the police is not to give out anything until an arrest is accomplished and then they want a big splurge made about it. If the mayor doesn't know this he ought to know it.

Forbidden Fruit

What is this strange desire all folks have to do prohibited things? Street car signs declare one must not alight from a moving car. People do it every car stop. It is against rules to smoke in a balloon basket. They have to search sailors for matches and tobacco every trip. Obviously a street car in motion is a dangerous object. An Eskimo riding his first street car would no more dream of jumping from its platform than you would of holding a lighted flame beneath the explosive vapors of a balloon casing. Post a sign in Eskimo declaring jumping prohibited and immediately you tell the Eskimo that other men have dared to jump and that they lived. He knows that must be true or you would not have warned him. Same with the balloon. Declare it against the rules to smoke and you declare that others have done so and lived to tell the tale of their daring. Instanter man's competitive instinct is aroused. He must do the hazardous thing the other fellow did.

My Love

Not as all other women are
Is she that to my soul is dear;
Her glorious fancies come from far,
Beneath the silver evening star,
And yet her heart is ever near.

Great feelings hath she of her own,
Which lesser souls may never know;
God giveth them to her alone,
And sweet they are as any tone
Wherewith the wind may choose to blow.

Yet, in herself she dwelleth not,
Although no home were half so fair;
No simplest duty is forgot.
Earth hath no dim and lowly spot
That doth not in her sunshine share.

She doeth little kindnesses,
Which most leave undone, or despise;
For naught that sets one heart at case,
And giveth happiness or peace,
Is low-esteemed in her eyes.

She hath no scorn of common things,
And though she seems of other birth
Round us her heart entwines and clings,
And patiently she folds her wings
To tread the humble paths of earth.

Blessing she is: God made her so,
And deeds of week-day holiness
Fall from her noiseless as the snow.
Nor hath she ever changed, to know
That aught were easier than to bless.

—JAMES RUSSELL LOWELL.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

"Take a look at that," said Dan Lane, the city hall cop, as he drifted over to the reporters' table in the council chamber in the "municipal palace" the other day and laid down a yellowed and somewhat-frayed-around-the-edges newspaper. It was a copy of the Ulster County, (N. Y.) Gazette published a little more than 121 years ago. It bore the date of January 4, 1800. About one-third of the first page was given up to the doings of congress, which included the reception of a message from President John Adams. The rest of the page was given over to news from London. It is not until we turn to other pages of the paper that we get at what must have been the "big story" of that day. It is an account of the death of George Washington, and of his burial at Mount Vernon. The "lead" in the story of his death is a poem. The authorship is ascribed to "A Young Lady." It begins:

"What means the solemn dirge that strikes my ear?
What mean those mournful sounds—why shines the tear?"

The father of his country showed wisdom in selecting the time for his departure from earthly scenes—it was in time to escape having to read the poetry that was to be written about him. The account of his death does not shed much light except that it makes clear the one fact that he died. The account of the burial is printed beneath the date line of Georgetown. It opens with the statement, "On Wednesday last the great Father of his Country and friend of mankind was consigned to his tomb." It is with something of a shock that we read only a little ways from the death story an advertisement offering a "stout, active" female slave for sale.

CAMBRIDGE, Jan. 13.—Joseph F. Lautner of Evansville, Ind., president of the Harvard university glee club and chorister of the senior class for whom search was begun last night, after an absence of several days is at the home of an aunt at Denver, Colo., his parents notified the college authorities today. As president of the glee club, he has been planning for its projected tour of France next summer.

CERTAIN RELIEF FROM BRONCHIAL ASTHMA

Simple Home Treatment Makes Breathing Easy

Just because you start the day tired, lifeless, worn-out from loss of rest and the difficult breathing of miserable Asthma—do not think you have to stay this way long.

Be strong and well, breathe clearly and easily again by using this simple treatment known as Oxidaze, the prescription of a Worcester, Mass., physician.

For any form of Asthma where the bronchial tubes are irritated, the breathing short and difficult, its healing, relieving action is really wonderful. Sufferers who can't breath at night and who gasp for a good, clear breath will appreciate the relief and comfort Oxidaze gives.

Oxidaze is a tablet made from essential oils which, when the patient dissolves in the mouth, almost immediately soothes the irritation, clears out the choked up air passages and enables the sufferer to breathe easily and get a real comfortable night's sleep.

It is sold by Lowell Pharmacy; Liggett's; Greens drug store and leading druggists who agree to refund the full purchase price of the first package to any sufferer who does not obtain satisfactory relief. Asthmatic sufferers should give Oxidaze a trial. It is harmless and inexpensive.—Adv.

NOTE—Change of date and place of meeting.

COLUMBUS, O., CITY HALL DESTROYED

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 13—The city hall, one of the oldest public buildings in the city, across the street from the state house, was destroyed by fire last night. Nearby business blocks, threatened by the flames, were saved with slight damage to roofs.

The fire started on the third floor in a gymnasium from an unknown cause. Children playing there escaped in gymnasium costumes, and members of the city council, in session, fled to the street.

Many valuable records were destroyed, it is believed, although steel filing cabinets were counted on to preserve some of the most valuable.

Council members, estimating the loss on the building and contents at $300,000, said steps would undoubtedly be taken at once to rebuild. No insurance was carried on the building.

GLOOMY WHITE WAY

All New York Cabarets and Dance Halls Must Close at 1 O'Clock

NEW YORK, Jan. 13—Merriment along the "Gay White Way" received a severe jolt when police made the rounds early today of all cabarets and dance halls with orders to rigidly enforce the state excise law forbidding them to remain open after 1 o'clock.

A series of raids by plain clothes detectives resulted in the arrest of three bartenders charged with selling liquor without licenses.

Announcements of closing at this unwonted hour, with the diners and dancers having nowhere to go but home, dropped on cabarets like bombshells. But there was a general exodus to the streets.

Some managers, who conduct all-night restaurants, after the amusement ban refused to close their doors.

Thomas Healy, who manages a series of uptown resorts, said he had received no closing order. "If those wicked people down around the loop" he said, "want to keep open with music and dancing, that's none of my affair. I'm not violating the law."

HEAD OF AUTO THIEVES JAILED

BOSTON, Jan. 12.—Ernest Blevins, twenty-four years old, of Cambridge, who had been a fugitive from justice since September, 1919, and who was one of the leaders of the gang of auto thieves that had a rendezvous in Billerica woods, was sentenced by Judge Cox yesterday in Middlesex superior court to state prison for from two and a half to three and a half years.

Blevins was the "go-between" in recruiting young men to steal automobiles for the chief of the gang, John J. Buckley, who is serving a long term in state prison. There were twenty-four indictments against Blevins when he jumped his $5,000 bail a year ago last fall. Blevins surrendered himself Monday.

He was bitterly arraigned by Special Prosecutor George S. Harvey and Attorney Henry F. Hurlburt. Attorney Harvey told Judge Cox that he thought Blevins should be punished severely because of his pernicious activities.

Harvey said boys of tender years were induced to steal cars and that many high grade machines were stripped and disguised in Billerica woods. He said Blevins had caused the county much trouble and expense. He said Blevins was Buckley's principal lieutenant.

BRITISH TROOP TRAIN DERAILED

BELFAST, Jan. 13—A troop train carrying 50 soldiers proceeding to Dunglow, on the Donegal seaboard, was derailed at Kincasslough, yesterday by boulders placed on the tracks. The troops replied to a heavy fire, which was opened on them. Although its windows were broken and it was riddled with bullets, the train was put back on the track and reached its destination. The official version of the affair reports no casualties among the military.

Endorses Sister Mary's Compound for Children Suffering With Sore Throat and Tonsils

"Too much cannot be said in praise of Sister Mary's Compound and its benefit to children suffering from sore throat and tonsil trouble. My little daughter has been bothered for weeks with a cough every night just as soon as she was abed and sometimes it seemed as if the poor child would strangle. Her nights were almost sleepless and although I tried everything from prescriptions to remedies advised by friends and druggists, nothing gave her as much relief as the first dose of Sister Mary's Compound. My husband had lost his voice from cold which settled in his chest and lungs. For two days he was unable to utter more than a faint whisper. One big dose of your valuable Compound restored his voice and relieved him of the congestion and he was able to report at the station for duty the next night.

We are very glad to recommend Sister Mary's Compound to all for coughs and throat troubles," says Mrs. Mary Sullivan, 51 Etna st., Brighton, Mass.

Sister Mary's Compound has no superior. It will clear and heal the vocal organs and restore the voice in 24 hours.

SISTER MARY'S COMPOUND IS BEING DEMONSTRATED at GREENS DRUG STORE, MERRIMACK SQ. OUR SPECIAL REPRESENTATIVE will be here EVERY day to meet ALL who wish to know the benefits to be derived from the use of Sister Mary's Compound for STOMACH, THROAT, BOWEL and LUNG troubles, and value as a BLOOD PURIFIER and BODY BUILDER.—Adv.

PRISON LIFE TERRIBLE

Girl Sentenced Here Appeals to Gentlemen Friends for Bail Money

Annie Servant, the girl who led the high life in Lowell for a short time and escaped from the police station to be caught later in a camp at Mountain Rock, is still in the house of correction in Cambridge awaiting bail of $500.

Two local lawyers had occasion to visit Cambridge yesterday and talked with her on planning the presentation of her case and also on the matter of securing bail. Annie wept and declared that confinement in the house of correction will drive her insane. She has to scrub floors just like an ordinary person, she said, and besides, she doesn't get any butter on her bread.

She gave the names of three of her men friends in this city to her counsel asking that they be requested to furnish enough money so that she can secure the services of a professional bail commissioner and thus secure her freedom until her case is called.

Six Alleged Booze Thieves

Continued

Property holders from New Bedford were in this city last night to bail out some of the defendants but because their claims could not be justified at that time their bonds were not accepted.

Judge Enright said this morning, however, that real estate in New Bedford would be accepted as bail surety provided an affidavit was filed in the clerk's office.

According to the police, two more arrests are yet to be made, one of a Lowell man and another of a New Bedford man, both of whom are said to have been ringleaders in the case. Lieut. Petrie, who is in charge of the case here, said this morning that another arrest would be made soon provided present plans worked out all right.

Word of the larceny of the liquor reached the police first on Monday morning when Cayouette reported the facts to Lieut. Petrie. James Manonsen of Lowell was the first man arrested. He was taken at the depot by Officer Dooley.

Lieut. Petrie secured statements from Manonson that implicated four New Bedford men and also Andromedas of this city. He then left for New Bedford late Tuesday afternoon with warrants and arrested two that same night and one the following morning.

The arrest of Andromedas was expected to be made in New Bedford, but the latter had meantime returned to this city. The Lowell officer then sent back word and Andromedas was taken here late Tuesday night.

Andromedas was arraigned Wednesday morning, but continued until today under $5000 bonds when he was represented by counsel. When queried by the court as to the disposition of the liquor, Lieut. Petrie said that it had not been recovered and that he believed it had been entirely disposed of in New Bedford.

On the ground that Cayouette claims that the liquor taken from his place was stored there prior to the time when prohibition became effective and can offer proof to that effect, it is understood that no complaint can be made against him for violation of any of the liquor laws.

According to the police, Goldstein is a former liquor dealer of New Bedford and now proprietor of a soft drink emporium in that city.

MAN TAKEN FROM JAIL AND SHOT TO DEATH

JASPER, Ala., Jan. 13.—William Beard, a miner held in connection with the killing of James Morris, a guardsman, on Dec. 25, last year, was taken from the Walker county jail early today by a mob and later shot to death three miles from Jasper.

The jailer and military authorities believed Beard had been rescued from prison by friends, until the body was discovered at the roadside by a rural mail carrier.

The shooting of the guardsman followed the killing of Beard's father-in-law, a striking miner.

DISSOLUTION ORDERED

Court Orders General Federation of Labor in France to Disband

PARIS, Jan. 13.—Dissolution of the general federation of labor, was ordered today by the court which has been hearing the case against Leon Jouhaux, president of the federation and other of its officers, on charges of infringements of the law governing unions. Fines of 100 francs each were imposed under Jouhaux and four other federation officials.

WORK ON SEWERS TO START MONDAY

Street Commissioner Dennis J. Murphy said today that he would place the full regular force of sewer construction men at work next Monday morning.

The commissioner does not state where the cash is coming from to pay the men. The cash to be received from the sale of bonds authorized under a loan order passed by the municipal council, the mayor said yesterday, would not be available for use in less than two weeks, and he had added that none of the proceeds of the loan shall be expended until the cash is actually in the hands of the city treasurer.

The commissioner states that 58 men are now laid off in the street repair and construction department because he has no money to pay them with.

The work of pushing the addition to the Morey school to completion is to start next Monday, according to a statement by Public Buildings Commissioner George F. Marchand. He said today that the boilers in the school are already for firing and supplying heat to the building that will permit the plasterers beginning work. The starting of the heating system has been delayed by the lack of electric power to run the pumps that force the warm air through the building. The Lowell Electric Light corporation now has men at work putting in a special feed line to the building.

Soon after the boilers are started, an inspection of all of the steam pipes will be made to discover whether or not there are leakages, and as soon as this is over the work of applying non-conducting coverings to the pipes will begin.

Work on the metal ceiling of the building is practically completed.

The commissioner is planning to soon put part of his force of men at work laying a new floor in the cow barn of the city farm. This is work that can satisfactorily be done during the winter.

The roof of the South Lowell school will receive the attention of the commissioner's department early in the spring. The old roof, of hip pattern, has been patched and patched, and it is proposed to take it off entirely and substitute a square roof.

A GOOD DAY FOR IT

BOSTON, Jan. 13.—A circus parade scene in mid-winter astonished children bound for school in the Franklin park section today. As lions, leopards and hyenas rolled past in cages the children slung books over their shoulders and broke into a run for a close-up of the unusual spectacle. It was moving day at the municipal zoo.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—To stop "enormous importations of Canadian wheat," Senator McCumber, republican, North Dakota, announced today that he would ask for a tariff of probably 50 cents a bushel on wheat to be included in the Fordney emergency tariff bill instead of the duty of 30 cents carried by the measure as it passed the house.

TORONTO TO WELCOME U. S. BALLOONISTS

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 13.—When the three American balloonists—Lieuts. Kloor, Farrell and Hinton—arrive here late today from Mattice they will be welcomed at the railroad station by Controller Maguire on behalf of the city and a delegation from the Aero club of Canada. The program of entertainment simply calls for an informal reception at the Aero club headquarters, a banquet having been cancelled on account of the altercation between Farrell and Hinton at Mattice, upon their arrival there after their perilous flight into the wilds of the Hudson Bay region.

Differences at End

MATTICE, Ont., Jan. 13.—The three American naval balloonists, who arrived here from Moose Factory, near where they descended Dec. 14, left last night for Cochrane on the eastbound Canadian National express.

The fight between Lieuts. Farrell and Hinton shortly after their arrival here was ascribed, in a statement issued before their departure last night, to overwrought minds induced "by their hardships and gruelling struggles that had to be endured on the trip over the trail from Moose Factory."

The statement, presented to newspapermen by Lieut. Kloor, was prepared, he said, at the direction of Hinton and Farrell, who had mended their differences. The three officers were together in the private car of H. E. Way, divisional superintendent of the Canadian National railways when the document was drawn up.

FILES IMPORTANT LABOR MEASURE

(Special to The Sun)

STATE HOUSE, Boston, Jan. 13.—Representative Owen E. Brennen of Lowell has filed with the clerk of the house an important labor measure, the purpose of which is to give laborers engaged in construction work a lien upon the property in case they are not paid for their labor. Under the terms of the bill, the claim of a laborer is given absolute priority over every other claim.

The measure was referred today to the joint committee on the judiciary, where it is certain to be the subject of a bitterly contested hearing later in the session. It reads as follows:

Section 1. A person to whom a debt is due for personal labor performed in the erection, alteration, repair or removal of any building or structure shall have an underlying lien upon such building or structure and the land upon which it rests and upon the interest of the owner therein.

Section 2. The owner or owners of any building, structure or land upon which labor is performed as provided in Section 1 shall be liable in an action of contract to the person performing such labor.

Section 3. The lien shall be dissolved unless the person claiming it, within 30 days after he ceased to labor on or to furnish labor or materials for the building or structure, files in the registry of deeds for the county or district in which it is situated a statement, signed and sworn to by him or a person in his behalf, giving a just and true account of the amount due him, with all just credits, a description of the property intended to be covered by the lien sufficiently accurate for identification and the name of the owner or owners of such property, if known. If a lien is claimed for labor only performed or furnished under an entire contract which includes both labor and materials at an entire price, the contract price, the number of days of labor performed or furnished and the value of the same shall also be stated. The statement shall not be invalid or insufficient solely by reason of an inaccuracy in stating or failing to state the contract price, the number of days of labor performed or furnished, and the value of the same if it is shown that there was no intention to mislead and that the parties entitled to notice of the statement were not in fact misled thereby.

Section 4. The validity of the lien shall not be affected by an inaccuracy in the statement relative to the property to which it attaches, if such property can be reasonably recognized from the description, nor by an inaccuracy in stating the amount due for labor or materials, unless it is shown that the person filing the statement has wilfully and knowingly claimed more than is due to him.

Section 5. Nothing in this act shall prevent the persons entitled to a lien under it from maintaining a section at law against the person for whom the labor was performed as well as against the owner or owners of the land, building or structure upon which it was performed and as if he had no lien.

Section 6. All acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed.

STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—Elimination in large part of the short interest in several prominent speculative shares was indicated by the reactionary course of prices at the opening of today's stock market. Crucible Steel fell 3¼ points, Atlantic Gulf 2, Mexican Petroleum, Studebaker and American Agricultural Chemical 1½; American Sugar and Beet Sugar 1. Rails were dull and fractionally lower. Within the first half hour, Mexican Petroleum rallied briskly and the list as a whole displayed a firmer tone.

The early rebound was well sustained under leadership of oils, steels, equipments, utilities and such specialties as General Asphalt and Allied Chemical, but food, leather, textile and copper issues were backward. Mexican Petroleum, Houston Oil, Republic Steel, Baldwin Locomotive, International Paper, Wells Fargo and American Express constituted the strongest and most active shares at advances of 1 to almost 3 points. Gains among rails were limited to the investment group. Call money opened at 6 per cent., the lowest initial rate in weeks.

Rails, especially coalers, strengthened at mid-day, but the balance of the list lost ground. Oils and leathers were particularly heavy with the food division. Hide & Leather preferred, fell 4⅜ points and Wilson Packing 5. Sears, Roebuck also cancelled yesterday's substantial gain.

Steels, oils and motors, especially Crucible, Mexican Petroleum and Studebaker, were under severe pressure later, showing extreme decline of 2 to 7 points. The close was heavy.

LOWELL HIGH SCHOOL TRIMS SWAMPSCOTT

The Lowell high school basketball team journeyed to Swampscott last night and won its third consecutive game. The score was 26 to 21. In the first period, the local high school lads rushed their opponents off their feet, piling up a 14 to 2 score. They seemed to be taking things too easy and suddenly found Swampscott threatening, being only one point behind, 22 to 21, with three minutes to play. Realizing the danger, the local boys pulled the game out of the fire by the brilliant work of Brockunier, Ordway and Gleason who took McAdams' place when the latter was shifted to guard position relieving Hunt. Brockunier was the star performer for Lowell with Ordway the next in line. Davis played his usual game on guard. Pagnottle and Wallis starred for Swampscott.

At a meeting of the basketball team at recess this morning, Brendon McAdams was unanimously elected as captain. Bennie is the son of Dr. and Mrs. J. P. McAdams of High street and is a senior at the local school. He is a very popular student at the school and is well known as a star football player in the center position.

Council Orders Cash Transfer

use of departments for the payments of payrolls and other bills outstanding against the city.

Next came favorable action on an order to appropriate $35,055.72 from any unexpended balances in the treasury for the payment of general debts against the city.

Both orders went through with the emergency clause attached certifying that the immediate appropriation of the money was necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety of the city.

Bills were passed authorizing the board of assessors to include in the tax levy for 1921 the total sum represented by the two orders.

Mayor Thompson read the letter that had been received from Mayor Walter H. Creamer of Lynn. The proposal for tax reform advocated by the Lynn man, which he wishes to have approved by the Lowell government, include the following alterations in the laws:

The allotment of one-quarter of the money now received from motor vehicle fees, and which is now entirely absorbed by the state, to municipalities and towns.

A tax of six to ten per cent. on intangible property.

An increased income from a tax on merchandise and stocks in trade of local corporations which are not now taxable.

In his letter the Lynn mayor asserted his belief that the municipal government of Lowell shared with the government of his own city a feeling of dissatisfaction over the way in which corporation taxes had been distributed this year by the state.

On Same Basis

He said he believed that corporations should pay taxes on the same basis as other property owners with a slight excess for the right of doing business. He asserted he felt it was right that the increase in the tax rate should apply to intangibles as well as tangibles, and that otherwise real estate development would be halted.

Mayor Thompson said that the proposition to give the municipalities a share in the motor vehicle tax had been under consideration before, but had always been strongly opposed by the public utilities department of which John N. Cole is the head.

The subject may come up for consideration again at the next meeting of the council.

It was voted to transfer $50 received from the Railway Express company for the special services of police officers, from the general treasury to an appropriation for the police department.

Jerome Brunelle, 153 Pawtucket street was appointed a weigher of various articles for the Gage Ice company.

The council is to meet again next Tuesday at 10 a. m.

IN THE POLICE COURT

Larceny and Attempted Larceny From Local Stores—Other Cases

A young man of Adams street who has been before the court before, was arraigned this morning charged with attempted larceny of a suit and overcoat from the J. L. Chalifoux company. He entered a plea of not guilty through counsel, but was found guilty and was given a suspended sentence to the house of correction and put on probation for one year.

According to testimony given, the defendant called up the office of the Chalifoux company yesterday and asked to open a charge account at the store. He gave a certain name and said that his son wanted a suit he had seen in the store window and would go in that same afternoon to purchase it on the charge account. When asked to give references over the phone he gave the name of a firm in the city here and also of a bank. When the store officials investigated the claim they found that the references were false and also that the address given was not correct.

Expecting that he would come to the store in the afternoon, the manager of the company notified the police and an inspector was in the store when the fellow came for the suit. He gave the same name to the clerk that was given to the office over the phone, but gave a different address. The suit needed some alterations so he left it to call for it later. He was arrested just as he was leaving the store, taken to the station and questioned. He then made conflicting statements as to his name and references given and also as to his address. He admitted calling the store office on the phone to open a charge account, but denied giving the names alleged by the police. In view of the fact that he has been placed on probation his name is withheld, a consideration, however, that will not be repeated in the event of any future misdemeanor on his part.

Josephine Machsalik, arraigned for the larceny of a pair of shoes and two little girls' dresses from the J. L. Chalifoux company, was found guilty and fined $10. She entered a plea of not guilty, claiming that she had purchased the dresses the afternoon when arrested and was returning the shoes which she had bought over a week ago, to be changed. The goods were not wrapped up when she was taken by the police and she could produce no sales slips to prove her purchase.

She was recognized by a floorwalker in A. G. Pollard's and followed by him to a 10 cent store where he saw her take a bag of candy, and then to Chalifoux's. The pair of shoes taken was one of the only two pair of the kind in the store and the clerks knew that none had been sold.

Martin Evoneski, found guilty of drunkenness, was fined $10. He was caught by a civilian peering in the window of a dwelling house in a yard on Thorndike street Tuesday night. The occupant of the house testified that Evoneski had been caught looking through the windows of his home before and that at one time he had attempted to jump through the window. On Tuesday night the defendant had lifted the window when caught. Judge Enright considered the case very carefully before disposing of it, because he said in these times any such acts are serious and serve to put the community in a state of fright. "Nowadays, if a man is caught raising a window in a dwelling house he is in great danger of being shot on the spot," said the court, "and the shooter would be justified in court for his act."

Three drunkenness cases were called and put off until later dates as was also done in the matter of two non-support cases.

Thomas Kennely pleaded not guilty to illegal keeping of intoxicating liquor, but was found guilty and fined $100. He appealed and furnished bonds in the sum of $200 for the superior court.

WAS BURIED WITH MILITARY HONORS

With military honors the remains of Bugler Joseph O. L. Mercier, a Lowell boy, who died in France while in the service, were laid at rest in St. Patrick's cemetery this afternoon. The funeral took place from the home of a cousin, Miss Delima Cyr, 25 James street, and the cortege, headed by a delegation from the American Legion, wended its way to St. Jean Baptiste church, where at 2 o'clock a Libera was chanted by Rev. Aurelien Mercil, O.M.I. The choir was under the direction of Joseph Paradis, who also presided at the organ. The solos were sustained by J. E. Nolet. The bearers were the following members of the American Legion: John J. Manning, Thomas J. McNamara, Philip J. Falvey, Charles A. O'Neill, Charles F. Fryer and James J. Manning. Burial was in the family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery, where a volley was fired by the following firing squad from the legion: William G. Miller, Irving Whitcomb, John T. McDermott, Harold Morris, Frank Ball and Edward Sullivan, the squad being commanded by Eli E. Hart, secretary of Lowell post. Taps was sounded by Fred Lalle, while the echo was given by Albert Hunt. The committal prayers at the grave were read by Rev. Fr. Mercil, O.M.I. Funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertaker Joseph Albert.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Two more group meetings of the membership of the Chamber of Commerce were scheduled for today, the first at 4.30 and the second at 8 o'clock. The 4.30 o'clock meeting yesterday was very lively and brought out discussions and suggestions that will prove valuable to the directors of the chamber. An invitation is extended to all the members of the chamber to attend these meetings and take part in forming the program of activities for this year. The summer recreation plan of dividing certain streets into playground areas which originated and was put in practice in this city last summer, has met with unlimited praise from other chambers throughout the country, according to information received this morning.

The American city bureau, which has been conducting a drive here for the past few days, will soon issue a [illegible] magazine which will contain an article on this recreation plan and [illegible] such [illegible] be sent to all the commerce chambers or boards of trade in the country and through this means Lowell is expected to be placed in a forefront in the matter of summer playground and recreation ideas. A meeting of all the team captains in the membership drive will be held this evening at the Colonial restaurant to make final reports and clean up any details in reference to the campaign.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

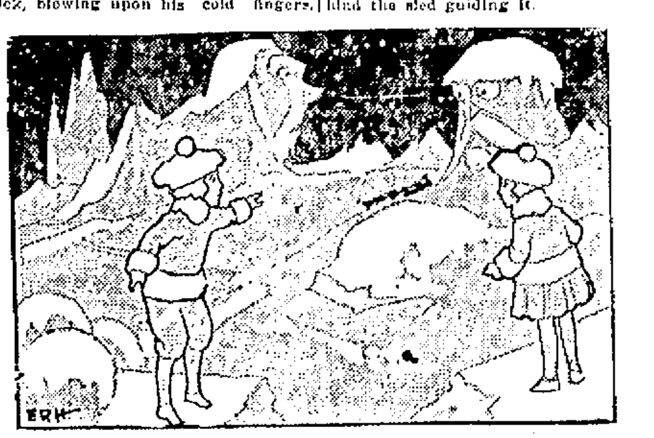

by Olive Roberts Barton

"THE TWINS ARE RESCUED"

When Nancy and Nick awoke and discovered that the Eskimo's hut had disappeared and with it the good fellow who had called himself Ishtu, they missed the carved box that held all their charms.

"It wasn't Ishtu at all," declared Nick, blowing upon his cold fingers.

He was right after all, and very soon in the starshine the children made out a dark line coming toward them. The dark line took form as it drew nearer and after awhile they were able to discern half a dozen Eskimo dogs drawing a sled. A man was behind the sled guiding it.

THE CHILDREN MADE OUT A DARK LINE COMING TOWARD THEM—ESKIMO DOGS DRAWING A SLED

He and Nancy were out quite in the middle of a bare snow field, you know, near the South Pole. "It must have been that wicked old Bohadil Jinn who is trying to prevent us from going any farther on our journey. If we only had our shoes we could wish ourselves into a warmer place, but they are gone, too."

Suddenly they heard a dog bark then another and another.

"Oh, Nick, do you s'pose he's set his dogs on us?" cried Nancy fearfully

But Nick spoke up with more bravery than he felt. "Pooh! No! That's a friendly bark and I'm going to whistle."

Which he did as loudly as he could.

"Hello!" called Nick. "Are you looking for us? Here we are."

The man answered something, but what it was the children could not understand.

"Don't you see? We've lost our language charm," Nick said to Nancy. "The bit of pink silk out of the mushroom's hat that the Fairy Queen gave us was in the carved box. We shall now be able to understand anybody in strange lands until we find it."

But the man was kind, and lifted the kiddies into his sled, and took them to his house not far away.

It was the real Ishtu and the hut was the one marked on the lost map.

CONCERT AND DANSANT

Employes of Chalifoux Company Hold Pretty Party at Associate Hall

The popularity of the members of the Chalifoux Co. Employes Mutual Benefit association was demonstrated last evening when between 800 and 1000 people gathered in Associate hall to participate in the seventh anniversary of the organization. The affair was in the form of a concert and dansant and proved one of the most successful events in the history of this popular association.

The decorations were pretty and appropriate and reflected great credit upon Jos. H. Martin, a member of the association, as a decorator. The hall, with its many decorative effects, presented a cheerful atmosphere which prevailed from early evening until the good night number was played by the orchestra. Instead of the usual stage location, the orchestra was stationed in a little square in the centre of the hall, set aside for that purpose, excluded from the view of the merrymakers by lattice work of Japanese design. Overhead the orchestra box was a huge basket of flowers suspended from the chandelier and radiating tiny streamers of blue, orange and white. The four corners of the box were surmounted by tiny pines and little electric bulbs peeked through the streamers. The stage was covered with potted plants. The balconies were trimmed with orange and white bunting, while here and there were rosettes of the national colors. There was a cozy corner which served as a rest room for the ladies. Japanese lanterns were hung in various places of the hall and the decorations as a whole were very neat and attractive.

The guests of the evening were Mayor and Mrs. Perry D. Thompson, Miss Fields, leading lady at the Opera House, Milton Byron, the leading man, and Manager Shanke. There were also representatives from the various store organizations present and all spent a most enjoyable evening. In the early part of the evening pleasing concert numbers were given by the orchestra and at 9 o'clock general dancing was started and continued until the early hours of the morning, refreshments being served at intermission.

The success of the evening was due to the untiring efforts of the following: William Souci, general manager; Miss Mae Bradley, assistant general manager; Joseph Gilley, floor director; Arthur Cormier, floor director; Miss Anna Place, assistant floor director. The aids were the members of the association. The reception committee was composed of the following: Eugene Queenan, chairman; Miss Blennerhasset, Mrs. Morrison, Miss Morrill, Mr. Plant, Mr. Hiser, Mr. King. The refreshments were served under the direction of Edward O'Neill.

DEFY MANUFACTURERS

Garment Workers Issue Challenge—"Will Dictate all Changes"

BOSTON, Jan. 13.—Manufacturers were challenged to attempt to reduce wages or impose more drastic working conditions in a speech last night by B. Schlesinger, president of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' union. The defi was issued at a mass meeting of seven unions affiliated with the international.

"We will dictate all changes that are to be brought about," said Schlesinger. "When we accept a reduction in wages it will be because we have a voice in the dictating of prices on manufacture, jobbing and selling and the profits that each part will get out of the transaction."

The statement was made as an answer to a letter received by individual members from employers, announcing the abrogating of the present working agreement by the cloak and suit manufacturers.

"I will say here that I dare the manufacturers to try and put this new policy into effect," Schlesinger continued. "They have been on their knees to me before and I will further say that if they start any fight to change the hours of labor, instead of your working hours being lengthened, the 40-hour week will be established, and in this way give some of the unemployed a chance to make a living.

"I do not want to give an answer to them now, but will say that a meeting of the general executive committee will be held in this city next week and that the reply will be framed then and sent to the manufacturers."

GOES up stairs like a girl now. Billerica Woman, at 70, Says Tanlac Has Made Clear Sweep of Her Troubles

"I have certainly never heard of anything to equal Tanlac during the 70 years of my life, and the medicine has just proved a blessing to me," said Mrs. H. Lloyd of 4 Rogers st, North Billerica, Mass.

"For 30 years I suffered dreadfully with rheumatism in my legs, arms and shoulders and in fact all over my body. For months at a time I didn't go out of the house and the pains became so severe I didn't even dare try to walk. I couldn't sweep the floor or do a bit of work about the house and my back hurt so bad I couldn't bend over to pick up anything. Why, at times I was in such pain I couldn't even turn myself in bed.

"My nerves were so shattered everything seemed to worry me, and I would just tremble like a leaf. My appetite was so poor I didn't want anything to eat, and even the little I did manage to eat caused me such distressing pains they were almost unbearable. My kidneys were badly disordered, and my back and sides pained me almost continually. I had terrible, blinding spells of headache and dizziness, and to tell the truth was nothing more than an invalid.

"I was continually taking all kinds of medicines without any relief until my daughter, who had obtained splendid results from Tanlac got me to try this medicine, and it just proved a blessing to me. I have taken four bottles of Tanlac and four bottles of the Tanlac Rheumatic Treatment, and the rheumatism has so completely disappeared I can go anywhere I want to now and do any kind of work about the house without it bothering me. Why, I never have an ache or pain and can go up a flight of stairs like a 16-year-old-girl.

"I have a wonderful appetite, too, and my stomach doesn't cause me a bit of trouble. My kidneys are in fine order, those awful pains have all gone from my back and sides, and I'm free from headaches and dizziness. My nerves are as steady as a clock. I sleep like a child every night, and I am now doing my housework for the first time in over four years. I will always be grateful to Tanlac, and expect to keep it on hand for the balance of my days."

Tanlac is sold in Lowell by Greens drug store, under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative, by Wright Drug Co., Billerica, Mass., and by the leading druggist in every town.—Adv.

WOULD MAKE ALL STATES AS DRY AS MASS.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—The house went up and down the ladder in voting yesterday on appropriations for inforcement of the prohibition law.

First rejecting an amendment to the pending approproation measure under which the bureau of internal revenue would be given $100,000,000 to break up outlaw liquor traffic, the house adopted, 86 to 48, an amendment by Representative Volstead of Minnesota, father of the law, increasing the total from $6,500,000 to $7,100,000. Before this vote was taken, the house, jumping from one extreme to the other, defeated without count an amendment limiting the amount to $1,000,000.

There was a tinge of old-time prohibition bitterness in the half-hour debate preceding the final clearing away of the wohle question as to how far congress should go in making the country "bone dry."

Pleading for a larger sum than had been fixed by the appropriations committee in framing the legislature, executive and judicial bill, Mr. Volstead gave warning that the country would be heard from if it was the policy of congress to cut down appropriations and make the job of enforcement a joke. Mr. Volstead said he merely proposed a figure nearer that which the attorney general had requested.

Representative Gallivan, democrat, Massachusetts, gave the house its first indication that a fight was brewing by proposing to make the appropriation $100,000,000. Taking up the statement of Mr. Volstead that a good part of the money spent would come back in fines, he said:

"Why this mite? Let's go the limit. Let's help the new administration by bringing back $100,000,000.

Referring by name to Wayne Wheeler, general counsel of the Anti-Saloon league, as "Mr. Volstead's legislative advisor," Mr. Gallivan declared Mr. Wheeler has said he would make it so dry in Massachusetts "its people would spit cotton."

"They are doing that now," he declared. "I want to say to the Anti-Saloon league that Massachusetts today is the only state in the Union that is enforcing the prohibition law. I contend that the sum I suggest is a drop in the bucket when you consider how much is needed to enforce the law in the rest of the country."

Representative Wood of Indiana, chairman of the sub-committee in charge of the bill, strongly opposed an increase, asserting that not one dollar should be added until the law's enforcement was placed squarely with the department of justice.

Representative Cramton, republican, Michigan, declared that any reduction would be like serving notice on the people that a reaction had begun and that an era of lawbreaking was beginning.

There was a roar from both sides of the chamber when Mr. Gallivan announced he would accept in place of his amendment a substitute by Representative Stephens, republican, Ohio, cutting the appropriation to $1,000,000. Representative aMnn objected, and all of the three proposals were put to a vote. Mr. Volstead winning, hands down, amid applause from the prohibition forces.

SEVEN BARKS

Nearly half a century is a long time to faithfully serve the public, but that is what SEVEN BARKS, one of nature's greatest remedies to mankind, has been doing.

... ask your druggist ... for SEVEN BARKS. If he does not happen to have it on hand, he will get it for you.—Adv.

CAR SHORTAGE IS PREDICTED

It is the consensus of opinion among automobile distributors and dealers that there will be a shortage of new and used cars next spring. The reason for this is that there has been a curtailed production of new cars all along the line caused by the condition of the retail market.

What happened is that people temporarily stopped buying, thinking that prices of motor cars would come down. Now two months have passed and while some makes of cars were reduced in price others have remained at the old price and in some instances were advanced. This shifting policy led to unstable conditions for a while but now that the uncertainty prevailing in the industry has worn away business is beginning to pick up and a decided improvement in conditions is looked for at an early date. When the buying returns to anywhere near normal, as it is certainly bound to do, then will come the shortage in all kinds of cars - new and used automobiles. At the present time there are genuine bargains to be had in serviceable guaranteed used cars at George R. Dana & Sons East Merrimack street. These used cars for winter use are selling at an unusually low level, and some are very attractive enclosed cars. These used cars have been thoroughly overhauled and repaired and they represent values that really mean something to the purchaser who has the good judgment to buy now while the prices are low and such a good supply of serviceable cars are on the market.

TO SEARCH FOR LIQUOR WITHOUT WARRANTS

BOSTON, Jan. 13.—To gain for prohibition enforcement officers the right of entrance without search warrants, William J. McCarthy, the agent in charge of enforcement in New England has arranged to have all members of his staff sworn as deputy collectors of internal revenue. This action was to be taken, he explained because "certain officials have held that prohibition agents have no right of entrance."

In a number of cases, liquor seizures have been ineffective because it was held that the officers searched without authority. "These officials," Mr. McCarthy added, "will have to recognize that as deputy collectors the prohibition agents will have the right of entrance to any place where taxable articles are kept or made."

CHURCH SERVICES IN SCHOOL BASEMENT

It is expected that within six or seven weeks mass will be celebrated in the Fourth avenue parochial school building for the French-speaking Catholics of Pawtucketville. The work of raising the building one story in order to build a basement for services, was started this morning. The contract has been awarded to Contractor Avlia Sawyer, who will rush the job along.

It was intended at first to secure, if possible, the New Moody street school, which is now idle, as a parochial school and to convert the little school house in Fourth avenue into a church, but the city solicitor has opined that the school board has no authority to lease or sell a school building. Accordingly new plans were adopted by which the little Fourth avenue building will be raised one story and services will be held in the lower part of the building.

Contractor Sawyer stated today he expects to raise the building and build a basement without disturbing the classrooms and that the job ought to be completed within six or seven weeks. It is expected that as soon as the lower portion of the building is ready for services His Eminence Cardinal O'Connell will appoint a pastor for the new parish. The work of organizing the new parish is being done under the personal direction of Rev. J. B. Labossiere, pastor of St. Louis' church.

A new piece of office equipment for binding papers holds the sheets together by means of a square eyelet.

If corks are thoroughly soaked in melted paraffin and cooled they can be cut, drilled or turned as easily as soft wood without losing their elasticity.

TO FORM NEW FRENCH CABINET

Poincare, Viviani and Perret Among Those Mentioned to Succeed Leygues

Fall of Leygues Due to Pro-British Attitude on Important Questions

PARIS, Jan. 13.—President Millerand was engaged today in conference with political leaders with a view to naming a man who would form a cabinet to succeed that of Georges Leygues, which resigned yesterday. Raymond Poincare, former president of the republic; Rene Viviani, former premier, and Raoul Perret, president of the chamber of deputies, were most frequently mentioned as the head of the new government.

Foreign relations was the rock on which the Leygues ministry split. The attitude of the cabinet which resigned yesterday in connection with concessions to Germany relative to disarmament and enforcement of the Versailles treaty, especially its at least partial acceptance of the British viewpoint on important questions regarding Germany, did not meet with approval. The Republique Francaise sums up this feeling on the part of the people by saying:

"All we ask is that the new premier, whoever he may be, shall not take Mr. Lloyd George as his foreign minister."

In political circles there is unanimity on two points—that the crisis must be settled as soon as possible and that the new foreign minister must be a man of experience, reputation and authority. All other considerations appear to be secondary.

Study of the vote which resulted in the defeat of the Leygues ministry in the chamber yesterday affords no guidance for President Millerand. It was heterogeneous in character, the motives behind it were confused and no political tendency was indicated.

ELKS WILL HOLD CHARITY BALL

The Lowell lodge of Elks, which has brought cheer and comfort to many homes, especially at Christmas time, by its generosity in extending a helping hand to those in distress, is planning to conduct a Charity ball in Associate hall on Thursday evening, Feb. 3, the proceeds of which will be set aside to be used exclusively for charitable purposes.

The affair has been termed "the most brilliant event of the season," and the various committees working on the arrangements hope to make it such. One of the big features in connection with the ball will be the decorative scheme. The committee has put in much effort in an endeavor to bring about one of the most original and beautiful spectacles in the history of the hall. In past years the Elks have staged many brilliant affairs, a feature of which has been the elaborate decorations, but those in charge aver that this year's array of colors will surpass all others.

A concert program will open the activities and many high class numbers are now being rehearsed. This part of the evening's program is in the hands of a capable committee, and the members will spare neither time nor expense to make it a pleasing feature. Luncheon will also be served.

JAP KILLS BOSTON MAN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Both the navy and state departments were awaiting today further information concerning the fatal shooting by a Japanese sentry, several days ago at Vladivostok of Lieut. W. H. Langdon of Boston, chief engineer of the United States cruiser Albany. The government has already evidenced its intention of making a careful investigation of the affair, but will take no action until the actual facts have been obtained.

So far the state department has been informed only of the bare fact of the shooting and has requested Consul MacGowan at Vladivostok to forward a more complete report. However, two reports were received late yesterday by the navy department from Admiral Albert Gleaves, commander-in-chief of the Asiatic fleet, giving both sides of the affair. Admiral Gleaves also informed the department he was then en route to Vladivostok to investigate.

The reports to the navy department showed the shooting occurred at night, in front of the Japanese division headquarters, the American's death following a few hours later at a hospital, but showed flatly contradictory statements as to its cause. The Japanese sentry claimed his suspicions were aroused when he saw the officer flashing a hand lamp and called upon him to halt. The officer replied, he said, by firing a revolver at him. This he returned with a rifle shot after which the officer fired twice at him. The sentry ran back to call the guard and when he returned the American had gone. Lieut. Langdon's statement, made after his arrival at the hospital gave an entirely different version. He said he was halted by the sentry, replied to a question as to his identity and proceeded on his way. He had gone only a few feet, he said, when the sentry fired at him, the ball striking him in the back at which he turned and fired two shots. The report further stated that Langdon was in full uniform and that his clothing and the wound itself showed he had been shot in the back, the ball passing out at the left side of the chest.

May Put Ban on Gas Pumps

for obstructing the highways.

The mayor expressed the opinion that if licenses were granted for the operation of gasoline pumps in the highways it would be difficult to draw a line that should close the use of the streets for other commercial purposes.

He referred to the obstruction of Merrimack square by piles of newspaper, and said that continual efforts to have them removed had failed.

Would Disregard Action

Chief Neal stated that any action taken by the municipal council granting licenses for gasoline pumps would not have any effect on future action by his office. He did not deny that pumps, similar to those of the Chalifoux company, are in common use throughout the state. He spoke of the danger of permitting the obstruction of the sidewalks, and said that Boston several years ago ordered the removal of even curbstone clocks.

Mr. Dorley: "How about the one in front of Thompson's spa that I saw awhile ago?"

Mr. Neal: "That has not been in existence for years; there are no such clocks except in the outlying portions of the city.

It was decided to refer the matter to the city solicitor for an opinion on the law involved in connection with the subject under discussion, and the whole subject of street obstruction may come up for consideration at the meeting of the municipal council next Tuesday.
